Fight in Tavern Sends Woman, Man to Hospital

A tavern argument over an alleged 20-cent debt flared into a full-fledged brawl early this week.

As a result, two people, a man and a woman, were taken to General Hospital after both were stabbed by the same man.

Det. Sgts. Chester Cunningham and Floyd Swails said the altercation in Ollie's tavern, 13th and Senate, started Tuesday night when Charles Lyles, 1323 N. Capitol, walked up to George T. Davis, 333 N. California, and demanded payment of a 20-cent debt.

The 50-year-old Davis told him he didn't have any money.

"Well, whose money is that you're spending?" Lyles demanded, noticing a bottle of beer in front of his debtor.

"Oh, this is Lucille's money," came the reply.

"Well if you can buy beer, you can pay me my 20 cents," Lyles reportedly told him.

The new angry Davis jumped up and slapped Lyles and started to run out the door when he was stopped by Lyle's brother, Alexander, who asked what was wrong.

Davis told him, "I know that brother of yours. He'll cut me."

Just then, Charles Lyles came out the door, drew a knife and, without a word cut Davis on the left side of the face, witnesses say.

Mrs. Lucille Thurman started outside to see what was going on, it was reported, and Lyles stabbed her in the thigh.

The knife-wielder and his brother were gone when police arrived on the scene. But while they were completing their investigation, Alexander Lyles returned to the tavern and was arrested on preliminary charges of assault and battery with intent to kill after witnesses told police he had been with his brother and might have been involved in the fight.

Police were still looking for Charles Lyles when The Recorder went to press.

LICENSE NOT REVOKED

Mrs. Blanche M. Brown, 938 W. 33rd, who was reported in the Jan. 17 issue of this paper as having lost her driver's license, says the report was untrue. The listings come from the state Bureau of Motor Vehicles, and The Recorder has printed them intermittently, assuming they were correct. Mrs. Brown says they erred in her case.

Shooting Affray Interrupts Festivity of Baby Shower

A Wednesday night baby shower was interrupted when a gunman rushed into the house at 1826 W. 10th and started blasting away.

Mrs. Vossie Young, 35, said she was having a baby shower for a friend, Mrs. Melvina Edmonds, 30, 904 N. Pershing.

"All of a sudden," Mrs. Edmonds told police, "Mrs. Young's husband, Willie, came in and started an argument with James Williams, 24, of the 10th street address." She said Young fired twice at Williams and missed.

During the ensuing scuffle, Williams wrestled the gun from his attacker and shot him in the upper right thigh.

Police, answering a report of a man shot, rushed out to 10th and Elder and asked a man at the 1826 address what the trouble was.

"He reached for the gun," the officer reported, "and I told him to stand still, but he broke away from me and ran. 'I yelled for him to stop and fired one shot from my service revolver. I followed him around to the back of the house where I shot again.'"

"At that time, my partner fired two shots at the man."

The officer said he didn't know whether the man returned their fire or not.

Inside the house they found wounded and rushed him to General Hospital, where he was in fair condition Thursday afternoon.

Loses $1,200 In Pigeon Drop

Pigeon drop artists traditionally ply their trade on unsuspecting elderly people, but a young woman of 27 was taken for $1,200 Monday.

Mrs. Althea Hubbard, 1475 Roosevelt, said two strange men approached her in front of American Fletcher National Bank, 1533 Roosevelt, and told her they had just found $1,800. And since she was now in on the secret, they offered to share their find with her.

First, however, she was asked to put up some of her own money as evidence of "good faith." Not willing to pass up a chance for easy money, she withdrew $1,200 from the bank and gave it to the men who promised to meet her later at an office in the 1700 block of Roosevelt.

The men who boasted that he was the one who had cut the Eastside girl.

In obvious pain from the 20-odd stab wounds about her face, arms and body, the 16-year-old girl told a Recorder reporter she had left home about 1:30 Thursday morning to get a sandwich and a bottle of pop.

"I was in the 1900 block of College when a man drove up in a car and started blowing his horn at me," she related from her hospital bed. "I just kept on walking till I got to the restaurant, but when I got there, I saw it was closed, so I started back home."

"Then I decided to go instead to 22nd and College and get a bottle of pop at the ice cream parlor. I started to cross the street at 19th and College, and another car pulled up, and a man jumped out with a butcher knife in his hand."

"He told me to get in the car and don't say anything because if I did he would kill me."

The girl said she got in the car and the man drove off, one hand on the steering wheel and the other wielding the deadly knife.

He reportedly told her, "If you give me any trouble, I'll be forced to kill you, because I don't want to go to jail."

'Braggart' Rapist Still at Large; Captured Man Admits Seven Rapes

A Shockingly brutal butcher knife attack Wednesday of last week on a 16-year-old Eastside girl set off a rash of sex assaults which terrified the whole city and had police on a 24-hour manhunt.

One of four other victims said her attacker boasted to her that he was the one who had cut the Eastside girl.

In obvious pain from the 20-odd stab wounds about her face, arms and body, the 16-year-old girl told a Recorder reporter she had left home about 1:30 Thursday morning to get a sandwich and a bottle of pop.

The girl said she got in the car and the man drove off, one hand on the steering wheel and the other wielding the deadly knife.

He reportedly told her, "If you give me any trouble, I'll be forced to kill you, because I don't want to go to jail."

The unwilling passenger sat in silent terror as her abductor drove two blocks up the street and turned into an alley.

"Then he stopped the car and ordered me to take off my under clothes," she said, horror showing in her eyes as she recalled details of the gruesome assault. "I tried to fight him off and he hit me, telling me I had better be a good girl."

"I STARTED SCREAMING, and he began cutting me. After that, I can't remember anything."

But about 2:15 that morning, Mrs. Alice Priest, 26, said, she heard someone scratching at the back door of her home, 2060 Broadway.

Mrs. Priest said she went to the door, looked out and saw the girl "covered with blood."

"I immediately called the police," she said.

The girl was rushed to General Hospital where she was still in serious condition Thursday morning, a full week later.

Police had been unable to apprehend the man on a car and the girl's description when The Recorder went to press Thursday.

A man who boasted that he was the one who had stabbed the girl, raped a 20-year-old girl and housewife early last week.

The series will start next week.

Grandfather's Rescue Effort Proves Futile

Heroic rescue efforts by a 69-year-old grandfather proved vain Friday of last week, and his four-year-old grandson was dead of burns over most of his body when he arrived at General Hospital.

Little Gilbert Rowley was "helping" his mother clean house just before six that evening at their home in the rear of 2438 N. Parker.

Since it was cold outside, Mrs. Elsa Rowley, 25, left the child in the kitchen while she went out to burn some trash.

"I was out on the alley, when I heard an explosion," she said. "I looked up toward 25th and didn't see anything, so I didn't think anymore about it."

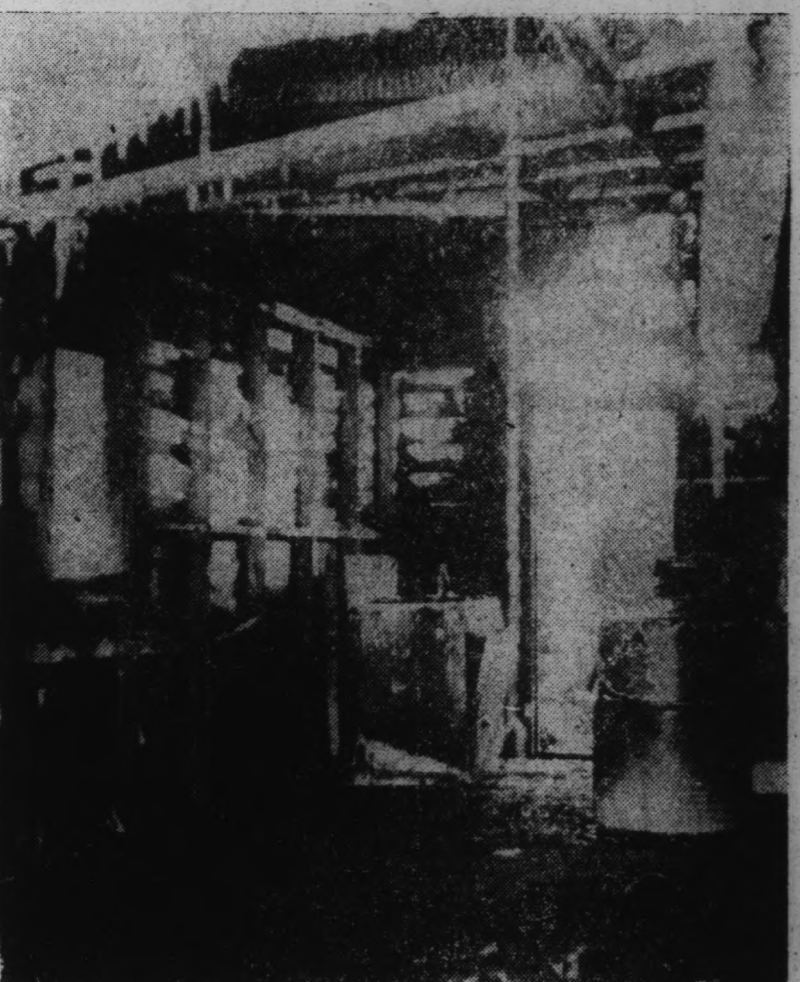

Returning to the house, she saw smoke coming out of the kitchen window and sprinted for the door, only to learn that a sudden gust of wind had blown the door shut, locking her out.

"Frankly, she beat and kicked on the door trying to get inside to her little boy, but was unable to break in."

On the verge of panic, Mrs. Rowley dashed to the front of the N. Parker address where her parents live, screaming for help.

"The house is on fire," she said.

NAACP Workshop to Hear County's 2 Ex-Congressmen

Powerful legislative big guns of the two political parties will be fired on behalf of progress Saturday when both of Marion County's living ex-Congressmen will address a state NAACP workshop and dinner at the Severin Hotel.

Andrew W. Jacobs Sr., Democrat, and Charles B. Brownson, Republican who succeeded him as 11th District Representative in the U. S. Congress, will headline the list of speakers at the legislative confab.

Atty. Rufus C. Kuykendall, a member of the Indiana subcommittee of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission and chairman of the Indiana section on Right-to-Vote, also will address the gathering.

PURPOSE OF the parley, which begins at 1 p. m. in the Severin Green Room, is to "build a fire" under civil rights bills which are pending in the General Assembly.

These include the Public Accommodations Bills (Senate Bill No. 33 and House Bill No. 57), which would modernize the state law against discrimination in public places; and the FEPC Bill (House Bill No. 82), designed to bring about fair employment regardless of race, creed or nationality in the Hoosier state.

Though introduced early in the present session, these measures to strengthen democracy and the economy, as well as to remedy injustices against Negro Hoosiers, have not yet received the attention they merit in the eyes of fair-minded citizens.

ALL 150 MEMBERS of the legislature have been invited to the conference, which will be attended by key human rights leaders from throughout the state. Introduced will be the authors of the bills: Senators Robert L. Roubenburr (R., Indianapolis) and Jesse L. Dickinson (D., South Bend) and Representatives Andrew Jacobs Jr. (D., Indianapolis) and Henry J. Kinkade (D., Michigan City) in the case of public accommodations; and Representatives Donald Yeagley and Howard Snyder, both South Bend Democrats, for FEPC.

Presenting the two former Congressmen will be two former state representatives of their parties. Atty. Henry J. Richardson Jr. will introduce Mr. Jacobs, while Atty. Wilbur L. Grant will present Mr. Brownson.

THE WORKSHOP will be held from 1 to 4 p. m. and the banquet will start at 6, according to Mrs. Cary D. Jacobs, NAACP state legislative chairman. There will be a charge of $3.50 for the banquet.

Eleventh District Republican Committee Chairman H. Dale Brown has announced his opposition to a bill which would eliminate all voting privileges by absentee ballot.

In a letter to State Senator Wesley Malone (R., Clinton), sponsor of the bill, Brown said, "Every citizen of legal age, who is qualified, should be given an opportunity to cast his vote, and instead of eliminating any possibility by doing away with the absentee ballot, our efforts should be toward encouraging these eligible voters to participate in each and every election."

He said there is no evidence that the absentee voting privilege has ever been abused. He suggested that ways of eliminating some of the red tape, time and effort in voting by absentee ballot be given serious consideration.

Oriental Cafe on ABC Deferred List

The Oriental Cafe, 507 Indiana, was one of two local taverns placed on the "deferred" list this week by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission after hearing charges.

Operated by Charles Duncan, the Oriental was charged with permitting customers to create disturbances, including a fight which ended in a shooting recently. A "bowling ball" fight enlivened the night spot a few weeks ago.

Charged with possession of lottery tickets was the Choice Brand liquor store, 205 W. 21st, operated by Camillus Head and Everett Smith.

Wilkins Says Rights Bill Is 'Sugar-Coated Pacifier'

NEW YORK — The omission of any provision dealing with the school desegregation crisis in the civil rights proposal of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Tex.) "prompts the suspicion that it is a sugar-coated pacifier," Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, charged last week.

The Texas senator's four-point program submitted to the Senate on Jan. 20 calls for the establishment of a federal conciliation service to mediate racial conflicts; extension of the life of the Civil Rights Commission through January, 1961; granting of subpoena rights to the attorney general in voting cases, and federal investigation of bombings of churches and schools.

to cure a tumor, for it omits entirely the major thrust domestic issue of desegregation of the public schools.

"THE COURTS ARE FULL OF this issue," Wilkins continued. "State legislatures have enacted hundreds of bills upon it. Troops have been mobilized upon it. Newspapers, magazines, television and radio are full of it. Political candidates are being elected and defeated upon this issue."

"The prestige of the United States Supreme Court rides upon it. The human dignity and citizenship status of 17 million American Negro citizens are wrapped up in it."

"Yet the Johnson proposal sounds as though it did not exist. We reserve final judgment until we have had a chance to study the actual text of the Johnson bills, but thus far nothing has appeared to cause us to cheer."

A headlined assertion that Indianapolis is "rated high for Negro job equality" was challenged Wednesday by leaders of the Indiana Human Rights Legislative Association.

The statement reportedly was made by John A. Scott, publisher of the daily Elkhart Truth and chairman of the Indiana Civil Rights Advisory Committee, a subdivision of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission.

Scott's reported assertion that Indianapolis is a "bright spot" in the state in fair employment was challenged by Leon Bates, IAW representative and co-chairman of the human rights group.

"It is the height of distortion to give the impression that job discrimination does not exist in Indianapolis or in Indiana," Bates said.

"The sad truth is that while some improvement has been made, discrimination still prevails in the majority of instances."

Mrs. Ofie Weeks, Indiana Central Area director of the NAACP, also declared:

"While token and pilot employment has been accorded Negroes in banks, insurance companies and department stores, the fact remains that the vast majority of Negroes in Indianapolis are still relegated to menial jobs or not promoted and upgraded according to merit, and are still subject to the old adage 'Last hired, first fired.'"

The statements were made at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Cary D. Jacob, co-chairman of the IHRLA.

housed, "and little Gilbert is trapped inside. Please hurry!"

Her father, Preston Williams, lost little time making his way back to the frame building at the back of the lot.

While Mrs. Rowley grabbed her father's key to unlock the door, he broke out a kitchen window and called to his grandson.

"I HEARD HIM ANSWER me, so I told him to come over to the window. He started over that way and was about a foot and a half from the window when he fell, apparently overcome by smoke."

Unmindful of possible injury to himself, the grandfather crawled his way through the kitchen door. Once inside, he grabbed his critically burned grandson and whisked him out of the burning house.

Meanwhile, a neighbor had summoned the Fire Department.

Firemen treated the youngster at the scene and administered oxygen, but he was dead on arrival at General Hospital.

The boy's grandmother, Mrs. Susan Williams, was in shock for two days after the tragedy.

Mrs. Rowley said she learned later that her "practically new" gas range had exploded, setting off the tragic fire. All of her clothes and furniture were destroyed, she said, but most of the clothing has been replaced.

Services for Gilbert were held Monday at Mt. Zion Freewill Baptist Church, with burial in Floral Park, King and King officiating.

Survivors besides the mother and maternal grandparents include a sister, Susan, and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rowley, all of Indianapolis.

Alumni Committee Maps Plans For UNCF Kick-Off Meeting

The Indianapolis alumni committee of the United Negro College Fund met Sunday to map plans for the April 9-12 convocation which will kick-off the 1959 fund-raising campaign.

During the meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Pace, 216 W. 33rd, alumni of the 33 member schools who have attended previous convocations offered helpful suggestions for the Indianapolis meeting.

Participating in Sunday's session were two members of UNCF's general staff in New York City, Gustav Henningburg, alumni field representative, and Calvin H. Raulerson, assistant to the executive director.

Atty. Willard B. Ransom, chairman of the local committee, told the group, "Indianapolis is faced with the giant challenge of measuring up to the standards set by Minneapolis, Buffalo and Chicago. All alumni must come forth and do their full share in making this undertaking a success."

Also announced were college scholarships available to promising high school students.

EXAMINATIONS FOR STUDENTS seeking college admission and scholarship awards for the 1959-60 school term will be conducted in some 183 testing centers between Feb. 23 and March 7.

Information regarding the time and place of the tests may be obtained from high school principals and counselors.

Applications are available from the participating colleges, including Benedict, Bethune-Cookman, Bishop, Clark, Huston-Tillotson, Knoxville, Lane, LeMoyne, Livingstone, Morehouse, Morris Brown, Payne, Philander Smith, St. Augustine, Spelman, Talladega, Texas, Tougaloo and Wiley Colleges.

Also Dillard, Fisk, Johnson C. Smith, Lincoln (Pa.), Shaw and Virginia Union Universities and Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes. Applications should be made immediately.

not bother me. He told me he would leave when he finished what he came to do. I waited until he left and called the police."

Blades, after a reluctant questioning by Sgt. Myron Partlow, confessed to the assault and admitted raping seven other women, all of whom he forced into unnatural sex acts.

"I'm glad the police caught me," he was quoted as saying, "because if they hadn't I probably would have ended up killing some woman who wouldn't give in to me."

Sgt. Partlow said Blades, currently being held on preliminary charges of rape and sodomy, would probably be tried as a sexual psychopath. He has been bound over to the Marion County Grand Jury.

A 49-YEAR-OLD MAN is in the Marion County Jail as a result of testimony given by the mother of an 11-year-old girl.

Willie Moore, 1006 W. 27th, is charged with raping the young girl.

The girl's mother said she came home from a visit to her aunt's and told her that Moore had come to the aunt's house while she was at work and asked her if she wanted some money.

"He gave me two dollars, the girl said, and told me to lie on the couch. He started hurting me and I asked him to stop, but he told me 'I gave you the money and you keep it, so lay down. It won't hurt long.'"

When he did lay me up, he told me not to say anything about it, and if I came back the next day, he would give me more money and we would do the same thing again.

"I then went home and told my mother what he had done."

Butler-Tarkington Hears Report on Neighborhood Survey

Reports of an interesting neighborhood survey made by Butler University students were given at a meeting of the Butler-Tarkington Group last week at North Methodist Church, 3808 N. Meridian.

Through a recreation program, enforcement of zoning laws and other projects the group is striving to foster an integrated community of high civic standards and good neighborly relations.

In ancient times, sick people were sometimes laid out on the highways so that passing travelers might look at them and suggest cures.

ONLY OTHER DIVISIONS from which race statistics were available are Narcotics and Juvenile Aid.

Of 93 men arrested on narcotics charges, 81 — more than 88 percent — were Negroes. Around 54 percent of the women arrested on dope charges — six of 11 — were colored.

Sixty-four of those arrested were between the ages of 25 and 40. Of 2,854 boys taken to Juvenile Aid Division during the year, 1,016 or 35 percent were Negroes. Thirty-eight percent of the girls — 176 of 461 — were Negroes.

Only two of 26 runaway boys were Negroes — eight percent — and all nine of the runaway girls taken to the juvenile home were white.

Detectives report recovery of 97 percent of the 2,173 automobiles stolen here during the year. Of these, 1,940 were taken by joy-riding kids. Recovery of stolen bicycles was more difficult, with a 32 percent recovery of 1,481 stolen bikes.

Seventy-six unclaimed bicycles are still on hand.

More than twice as many juveniles as adults were arrested on vehicle taking charges, 254 to 121. Four of 62 bicycle theft arrests were adults.

Vice investigations and raids included gambling (poker and dice), 96; horsebook, 16; baseball and football tickets, 28; pick and win, 13; policy, 62; parlay cards, 2, and slot and pinball machines, 10. One thousand-and-three were booked on gambling charges.

For the second straight year, Indianapolis won the National Safety Council award as the safest city in its class by recording even fewer traffic fatalities than in 1957.

Total cases cleared in major crimes, while not as high as 1957, was well above the national average. Recovery of stolen property was far above 1957, with pawnshop recovery alone nearly triple that of the previous year.

Intensified efforts have all but crased vice and gambling as a major problem.

With juvenile delinquency on the increase nationally, Indianapolis showed a marked decrease in juvenile offenses.

Drive for Mental Hospital Volunteers To Last Month, Says Assn. President

IN MENTAL HEALTH DRIVE: Mrs. Jerry Edelson, volunteer recruitment chairman of the Marion County Mental Health Association, works with a patient in handicrafts at Central State Hospital. This type of work is carried on regularly by the association, currently in a drive for funds, Jan. 15-Feb. 15.

Evansville NAACP Threatens Suit on Safety Board 'Bias'

EVANSVILLE — Not satisfied with pleas of innocence by the Safety Board and Evansville Police Department, the local NAACP branch has threatened to sue if no settlement is reached before Feb. 20 on six charges of discrimination against Negro officers.

A report will be sent to national headquarters on that date.

An NAACP delegation met with the Police Merit Commission and Safety Board early this month and the six complaints were taken under advisement.

Between that time and the time of the more recent statement, an attempt was made to relieve two of the unfavorable conditions, the assignment of a lone Negro patrolman to a patrol car and the lack of Negro juvenile and vice officers.

A second patrolman has been assigned to the patrol car and a Negro assigned to vice and juvenile problems in predominantly Negro areas.

BUT REV. ARTHUR L. JELKS, NAACP president at the time of the charges, said it is unfair to have one Negro officer investigate both juvenile and vice offenses.

Safety Board President Joseph Halbig told Rev. Jelks that the other four charges were under the jurisdiction of the Merit Commission.

Following a meeting last Friday, Commission President Gordon McNow said his group had listened to the complaints and decided to take no action.

The NAACP had complained of a Negro applicant being turned down because of a low rating on an interview with the Commission, despite a high score on the written test.

Rev. Jelks said too much weight is given personal interviews in grading applicants.

Failure of the department to promote two qualified Negroes and the assignment of only two Negro officers to detective duties were the other charges made by the NAACP.

Bindley C. Cyrus
President

A month-long countrywide recruitment drive for mental hospital volunteers was announced this week by Virgil Hunt, president of the Marion County Association for Mental Health.

The recruitment drive in Marion County is in conjunction with the Mental Hospital Volunteer Month program of the state association for mental health, Jan. 15-Feb. 15.

During the month, volunteers from nearby communities wearing the uniforms of Gold Ladies visit wards at the state's larger mental institutions to cheer lonely patients. They assist hospital personnel in occupational, recreational and musical therapy programs, assisting, advising and encouraging patients in working with their hands, participating in games and singing and playing musical instruments.

In the eight years the county associations have been in operation, patients and hospital employees have come to depend upon the volunteer for aid in patient therapy, uplifted spirits and an unmatched companionship for patients, a spokesman said.

MRS. JERRY EDELSON, chairman of the local project, said, "We need just as many volunteers as we can get to swell the ranks of Gold Ladies and Gold Men."

"Patients at the hospitals need the change, the brightness that comes with visits of volunteers. The volunteer brings the community to the patient. Many former patients are active citizens in their home communities today because of the interest of these friends."

"If you have never visited Central State hospital you would be pleasantly surprised by the quiet, orderly communities on each hospital ward and the methodical manner in which patients go about performing their daily chores."

At Central hospital, Mrs. Edelson said, some wards are "open" and patients are allowed to roam unaccompanied about the hospital grounds during the day.

"MOST AMAZING to the outsider," she went on, "is seeing patients visiting and working in therapy programs with unformed volunteers" weaving pot-holders, playing games and setting one another's hair under professional supervision of volunteers."

Mrs. Edelson went on to explain that in carrying out the campaign for new volunteers the committee plans talks and movies for clubs, church groups and civic organizations.

We will be most happy to arrange a speaker for any group if they would call our office," she pointed out. "Those interested in the possibility of becoming hospital volunteers are welcome to accompany the regular volunteers on their next hospital visit."

Further information can be had from the Association, 615 N. Alabama, ME. 4-4311.

Taylor Tops, Five Beauties, At Flamingo

The Taylor Tops, five beautiful girls with the shapely gams, and ready recognized as one of America's most sensational singing groups, will headline the sparkling new stage presentation at the Flamingo Club this Friday thru Monday, with a special teenage dance scheduled for Sunday from 7 till 11.

The tantalizing and curvaceous Roxiana, the girl with the movable "par.s," will do a body-twisting number unequalled by any exotic dancer seen here in many moons. The girl is terrific, and so is her partner Doris Gage, the golden-brown lass with the cherubic 'ouch and the mellow voice that wows her audiences.

Then there's Guitan the Magnificent, a wonderful fella with an exciting fire-dancing act, one of the best seen here at any pleasure spot. In the emcee role is the exciting Gip Roberts, flashy dresser and master of repartee, the kind you enjoy.

Don't fail to catch this show over this weekend and Monday.

Suggests Royal Children Marry Different Color

LONDON—An English baron has suggested that the Queen of England urge her children to marry people of different color.

Lord Altrincham said the children of British royalty should be free to marry people of other races.

He said the Queen should throw off her closest ties with the United Kingdom and associate more closely with the commonwealth people by living among them.

In an address to the Commonwealth Correspondents' Association, the baron said in part, "Most of us whose lives have been confined to one particular part of the commonwealth must of necessity live only in our own particular part of the world and tend naturally to marry people of the same pigmentation as ourselves."

"But these people, this (royal) family, through the exceptional opportunities which they would have through living on a multi-racial scale and on a world scale, would have the opportunity to mix far more freely and to make friendships and possibly to make marriages of a kind which for most of us are difficult and unlikely."

"That is, I think, an exciting possibility."

Lord Altrincham is editor of the conservative magazine, National and English Review.

Writer Relates Rumors of 'Deals' In Filibuster Compromise Bill

(EDITOR'S NOTE: See also story on page 14.)

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Rumors that the infamous Senate "compromise" in the filibuster fight was influenced by promises of dams, airports and important committee assignments were reported last week by Louis Lautier, National Negro Press Association writer.

"If any such promises were made," Lautier observed, "they are not likely to be disclosed until several years hence when there is another bitter fight and a dissatisfied senator discloses the deal or deals that were made to keep the Senate from passing a workable cloture rule."

"As of now, the one fact is that newly elected senators who were expected to be on the side of the liberals lined up behind Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas to vote down liberal proposals and pass the Johnson resolutions, which leaves it as difficult to shut off debate as before its passage."

"Both Alaskan senators, E. L. Bartlett and Ernest Gruening, consistently voted with Johnson, although filibusters and threats of filibusters had delayed statehood for Alaska and blocked statehood for Hawaii."

"Also lining up behind Johnson were newly elected Senators Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, Howard W. Cannon of Nebraska, R. Vance Hartke of Indiana and Gale McGee of Wyoming."

Senator Frank Church, Idaho Democrat, switched sides. Two years ago, he was lined up with the liberals in the rules fight. This time he was one of Sen. Johnson's lieutenants in fighting against a meaningful change in the filibuster rule.

"As in the fight against provisions in the Civil Rights bill in the Senate in 1957, to which Southerners objected, the Southerners stayed in the background and Western Democrats made the fight for them."

"Church was one of them. The other was Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, who was lined up with the liberals in the rules fight two years ago, but this time, as in the civil rights fight, he made the fight for the Southern Democrats."

"The question of committee assignments crept into the debate during consideration of the motion of Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, New Mexico, that the Senate proceed to adopt new rules."

"THE ANDERSON MOTION was in line with the ruling of Vice-President Nixon that a majority of the Senate at the beginning of each new Congress has the constitutional right to adopt rules of procedure for its guidance."

"Before the Senate adopted the Johnson resolution, it voted 67-28 against a substitute offered by a bipartisan group led by Sens. Paul Douglas (D., Ill.), Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.), Clifford P. Case (R., N. J.) and Jacob K. Javits (R., N. Y.)."

"The substitute would have permitted debate to be limited by a two-thirds vote two days after a cloture petition was filed and by a majority of the entire Senate, or 50 senators, 15 days after such a petition was filed."

"After the debate was limited, each senator would be allowed one hour to speak on the pending business, making a total of 98 hours after cloture was invoked before there was a vote."

"A number of senators who voted against the Johnson tabling motion Friday switched sides and voted with Johnson against the substitute."

"Sen. Douglas told the Senate that an examination of the votes cast on various proposals would reveal a third element has been added to the coalition (Southern Democrats and Republicans), namely, most of the small states of the West."

"This has been a black day for the people of the United States," Douglas said, adding, "The majority

The Indianapolis Human Relations Council, which has been inactive for the past two years, was revived at an enthusiastic meeting Sunday at the American Fletcher National Bank, 2829 N. Meridian.

Atty. Max Klezmer, vice-chairman of the council, presided as Chairman Walter W. Sikes was detained until late in the meeting.

A panel discussion on needs of human relations work in the city was moderated by Atty. John Preston Ward. Speakers were Rev. Frank V. H. Carthy, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church; Dr. Joseph T. Taylor, Flanner House; Charles S. Preston of The Recorder and Marshall Cohen of the Jewish Community Relations Council.

A number of civic, church and community leaders took part in the town-meeting type discussion. Not to be confused with the Mayor's Human Rights Commission, the council is open to voluntary membership of organizations and individuals interested in promoting good neighborly relations.

Another meeting will be held in February, according to plans. Persons wishing to volunteer for service may call Mrs. J. K. Bailey at FL 7-1045. Mrs. Bailey is a member of All Souls Unitarian Church.

Social Scene . . .

By RICHARD C. HENDERSON

Regular readers of this column (assuming there are some) are probably rather bored by now to learn that one RCH had an incredibly busy weekend; most likely they realized before I did that a mad helter-skelter pace over any weekend should just be looked upon as a matter of course, hardly worthy of comment. So, I shall not bother to tell you that I had an incredibly busy weekend — I'll leave it to your imagination!

But if I had told you how busy it was, I would also have pointed out that one of its major delights was the formal dance of the El-Amigo club, given Saturday night at the K. of C. Hall and which I attended as guest of Nathaniel H. Graves, vice-president.

One of the delights, of course, was the music of Dudley Storms and his orchestra, always as enjoyable for listening as it is for dancing.

And another was the beautiful floral decorations, arranged by the Regal Flower Shop and using very effectively the club's colors of blue and gold. Greeting guests at the entrance of the dance portion of the hall and setting the gay tone of the dance was a huge spray of blue and gold chrysanthemums, snapdragons and gladioli, undergirding a glittering figure "32" with blue and gold streamers, in recognition of the club's 32nd anniversary.

The same colors were used at the focal point in front of the bandstand, where four large standing baskets of chrysanthemums, snapdragons and gladioli "tied in" a garden scene featuring a wrought-iron archway, love settee and two chairs in glistening white.

Most of the tables were centered with equally lovely plateaus of flowers, with the blue and gold theme predominating, although I did notice two or three tables were done with different motifs. The mouth-watering array of hors d'oeuvres and canapés on most of the tables made me wish I knew all the members so I could have "table-hopped."

In addition to my own host, other officers of the popular men's club are Messrs. Arthur Garner, president; William A. Johnson, recording secretary; Robert McCroskey, financial secretary; Paul Creighton, corresponding secretary; Curtis L. Jones, treasurer; Andrew Young, social director; William Sargent, athletic director; Paul Carter, literary director; Rutch Hinkle, sergeant-at-arms, and Samuel Barnett, parliamentarian.

Also members are Messrs. Ernest Boone, William H. Brannon, Sylvester Carpenter, Edward Carson, Henry Dabney, Andrew D. Foster, Wesley Harrell, Thomas C. Howard, Harry Lewis, Oliver C. Miller, Chester Smith, Homer G. Smith, Dudley Storms, John H. Williams, Roosevelt Williams, Wilburn G. Williams, John K. Wilson, Gilbert Woodard and George Woodson.

Listed as out-of-town members are Mitchell Walker, Joseph Craig, Edwin Perkins and William Powell, while listed as deceased members are Louis Adams, Eric Suter, Robert Wells, Lee Bess Jr., Dr. Robert W. Hatch, William Edwards, Robert Turner and Henry Carpenter.

From there it was out to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Chambers, who were entertaining their hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Williams, at a breakfast party—along with other guests, of course!

And what a breakfast it was! Never have I tasted such fantastically good drop biscuits—and it goes without saying that the fried chicken, sausages, potatoes, etc., were so delicious, one could easily forget their caloric content. With a wife who cooks like that, I cannot understand W. Alexander's liteness (to put it sweetly).

On Sunday afternoon I was among the group of 31 alumni of Attucks honored by the Attucks Alumni Association in a special program. An article about that program should appear elsewhere in this issue, but here is the place gently to remind one Grant W. Hawkins that just possibly the announcement in this paper last week that the program would start at 2 was made because the press release sent in said so.

The program actually was scheduled to start at 3:30, but the staff member who wrote the story had no way of knowing. It wasn't RCH, Mr. Hawkins, who DID know what time the program was to start (many smiles!).

Members of the La Plus Exceptionnelle Bridge and Literary club enjoyed a luncheon meeting for January at the home of the president, Mrs. Bernard Brent. Prizes were won by Mesdames John Osborne, Earl Russell and Ira Thomas.

Plans are being made, I understand, to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the club. Speaking of plans, some very nice things are in the offering for quite a number of people—and one of the nicest of them I can't even mention now, but just wait till next week!

From Mrs. Ethel LaShea has come an invitation to the dance Saturday night at the Walker Casino of the Jolly 32 club. I always enjoy being Ethel's guest—she is most considerate and attentive.

I also always enjoy attending the card party of the Ten Penny club, and surely this year's party, to be held Saturday afternoon, Feb. 7, at 12:30 in the Ayres Auditorium, will not change things. For one thing, there is always the realization that it's for a good cause—this time all proceeds will be used for charity projects, including work at Central State Hospital and Alpha Home for the Aged.

Mrs. Michael Goliah is general chairman, and other members are Mesdames Alonzo Daniels, James V. Dabner, J. Leon Simms, Ted Phillips, William Garrett, H. L. Harris and Earl H. VanHorn and Miss Norma Woods.

And speaking of not changing things, it would appear that my good friends of Gamma Phi Delta sorority's Gamma chapter are not going to change what's becoming a tradition of my being a judge for their "Winter Carnival." Unless my aging memory fails me, I didn't realize until last week that I was to be a judge for Saturday's production, set for Saturday night, Feb. 7, at the National Guard Armory.

But then, that's the way those women are—they know all they have to do is give just half a smile, and I can only sigh "yes."

Of course, they probably also realized I would sob alone if they hadn't asked me, so sic transit away and return to the more unpleasant aspects of my job with Indiana's Greatest Weekly.

popular men's club, is displayed by the president and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Garner. (See "Social Scene" — Recorder photo by Jim Burres)

TURN THE TABLES: Following the beautiful formal dance of the El-Amigo club last Saturday night at the K. of C. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Chambers "turned the tables" — literally as well as figuratively — on their host, Wilburn Williams. At the after-dance party held at their home, 4046 N. Capitol, Mr. and Mrs. Chambers are all solicitousness as they serve Mrs. Williams, with Mr. Williams looking on. (Recorder photo by Jim Burres)

Angels Club Lists Officers for Year

The Angels club met with Mrs. Lucille Edwards recently and held election of officers.

Named were Mrs. Edwards, president, and Mesdames Dorothy Dinkins, vice-president; Audree Barker, recording secretary and critic; Lavonia Harris, financial secretary; Zoma Stevens, treasurer; Shirley Martin, business manager; and Margaret Mitchell, reporter.

Mrs. Eva Smith was accepted as a new member.

Northside Prayer Band Sets Service

The Northside Prayer Band will hold services Tuesday night at 8 at the Shackelford Prayer Chapel, 921 N. West.

William Howard is leader of the prayer band, and Mrs. Margaret R. Shackelford is founder-pastor of the chapel.

WHO'LL BE SWEETHEART?: These pretty girls are currently friendly rivals, the object of their rivalry being the title of "Miss YWCA Sweetheart of 1959." Competing for the honor, to be bestowed Friday night, Feb. 13, at the Sweetheart Ball of the Phyllis Wheatley YWCA are (front) the Misses Maureen Edwards, Frances Simmons, Carolyn Bell and Audrey Masden and (back row) Tequita Purcell, Mary Dowling and Frances Thompson. (Recorder photo by Bill Raspberry)

Deltas Plan Founders Day Celebration

Chi chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. will celebrate its 46th annual "Founders Day" Sunday afternoon at 4 with a program at Witherspoon United Presbyterian Church, 25th and Paris.

In keeping with one of the sorority's five point project by pre-chapter has chosen to emphasize the international project by presenting students from Africa in native dress. They will relate various aspects of their customs, cultures and mores.

The program will be open to the public without charge.

NAME OMITTED

Through no fault of The Recorder, the name of Patrick E. Chavis Jr. was omitted from an article about the Cadillac Klub in recent issue. Mr. Chavis is an honorary member of the club.

Mrs. Mary L. Venable has gone to Los Angeles for a visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Kimbrough, and grandchildren, Stephanie Joyce and Johnny.

Chatting with the FAC

By ELSA JACKSON

The FAC educational committee met Monday night to complete plans for the observance of National Negro History Week, Feb. 8-15. Mrs. Johnetta Carlew will write scripts for broadcasts through the local radio stations, and the TV stations have also promised to grant time.

The first program will be Sunday, Feb. 8, from 5:05 to 5:15 on Radio Station WFBM, and the week's observance will close with an exhibit of arts and crafts and other handwork by people of the community. Mrs. A. Pruett is chairman of the exhibit.

Mrs. Crystal Jackson is chairman of the educational committee.

Mrs. Lula Hodge, chairman of the board of directors, and Starling W. James, FAC president, were more than pleased last Monday night when the board of directors met and registered almost perfect attendance.

Various board members were appointed by the president to be responsible for a special activity on every fifth Sunday this year.

A mammoth financial drive between the FAC men and the FAC women was set in motion. Mrs.

Emma McKnight will be in charge of women, and Mr. James will be in charge of the men. The drive will start officially March 9 and will end in November.

Board members listened to plans of Walter Ezell for remodeling the Aron Room. His plans and bid are under consideration.

A shower of "good cheer" cards were sent to Mrs. Nora Hector by the board members. Mrs. Hector is still on the sick list.

Mrs. Alice Evans, who was incapacitated for several weeks, is able to be out again.

All committees will meet in the club home Monday night, Feb. 16. An hour will be given to business, and then a pitch-in Valentine party will be enjoyed.

Mrs. Frances Walker, 2539 Columbia, was hostess to the Puella Amica club at its last meeting. Elected officers were Mesdames Clara Bridgeforth, president; Nina Brown, vice-president; Bessie Jordan, recording secretary; Carrie Beasley, treasurer; Anna Bell Williams, chairman of the sick committee, and Charlotte Hill, business manager.

Mrs. Lenora Maholland assisted the hostess in serving a most delicious dinner.

Prizes were won by Mesdames Sill, Conn and Brown, who will be next hostess at 828 Blake. Mrs. Dorothy Green will assist Mrs. Brown.

The Golden Circle Girls enjoyed their last meeting in the beautiful new home of Mrs. Tomary Sweat. Mrs. Elizabeth Bollen is president.

Last but not least is a reminder not to be left out when Mrs. Ethel Ryan and her activities committee present a fabulous fashion review in the ISTA Building on March 22.

Socialettes Club Lists Officers

The Socialettes met with Mrs. Hazel Bridges, 1321 E. 29th, and elected officers recently.

They are Mesdames Hazel Williams, president; Mary Dowdy, vice-president; Fannie Murrell, treasurer; Odessa Williams, financial secretary; Pauline Miller, secretary; Frances Dulin, pleasure and sick committee chairman; Mattie Russell, critic; Sadie Edwards, special secretary, and Hazel Bridges, reporter.

Rev. L. A. Manuel, pastor of South Calvary Baptist Church, is confined to his home, 112 W. 33rd, with illness.

Tea Honors Former Recorder Writer For Work as Annapolis Librarian

By ELIZABETH OLIVER

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Mrs. William H. Richardson, children's librarian for the Annapolis and Anne Arundel County public library, was among five prominent women of the community who were honored at an appreciation tea given recently by the Elite Social club at Carvel Hall here. Mrs. Richardson is the former Miss Eloise Keller of Indianapolis and was for a number of years society editor of The Indianapolis Recorder.

The women were honored for their outstanding work in their respective positions and their contributions in the interest of the welfare of the community.

Mrs. Richardson, who has served as children's librarian for seven years, is the first Negro professional worker on the staff in the county's public library system.

Her work involves serving all pre-school and elementary children in the city and outlying areas.

She works with the teachers in the kindergartens, elementary schools and PTA groups, when book talks are given, as well as when she serves in advisory capacities.

Popular with all children in the city, she conducts a story hour for pre-schoolers every Thursday morning.

One of the most popular spots in the city, the children's room attracts crowds of children daily after school and all during vacation periods.

This popularity caused the daily paper here, The Evening Capital, to publish a whole page of pictures on the activities of the children's room, including two poses of Mrs. Richardson, designated as children's librarian.

She specializes in helping children in the lower grades with their reading by the selecting of supplementary reading material and guidance.

Of her work along this line, the director of the library system, Miss Esther King, received the following letter:

"Dear Miss King:

"I want to express to you and especially Mrs. Richardson, my appreciation for the help you gave my Naval Academy primary school first graders this past year."

"The children and their parents entered into my library reading plan wholeheartedly. This was due largely to Mrs. Richardson's enthusiastic help and encouragement."

"The children not only benefited from this outside reading, but derived a great deal of pleasure from it. Mrs. Simpson, our psychologist, and I both feel that this extra reading was one of the main factors that contributed to the higher than national median score made by the class on reading tests."

"Out of 23 children only one read less than 20 books from December through May. Many read 50 books and more. Again, many thanks for the cooperation from the children's room."

"Sincerely,

"Maud D. Bell."

Another letter came from the Board of Education, which read in part:

"Dear Miss King:

"The supervisory staff of the Board of Education wishes to thank the library staff and particularly Mrs. Richardson of the children's department for the time and effort recently spent assisting members of our social studies summer workshop. Without her generous assistance it would have been difficult to compile such a complete and accurate bibliography for our new social studies unit."

"Both teacher and children throughout the country are sure to benefit from the long list of suggestions."

Postal Alliance Women Entertain

The Indianapolis Postal Alliance Auxiliary members entertained their husbands and friends last night at the FAC Home. A delightful dinner was served, and a social evening was enjoyed.

The auxiliary will hold its annual "Go-to-Church Sunday" observance Feb. 15 at Mt. Zion Baptist Church. Services will begin at 10:45.

OOPS, 'MRS.' WAS 'MISS'

In last week's article on the wedding of Miss Virginia Akers and Arthur C. Richardson, an error had Mrs. Mona Sloan as matron-of-honor. She is Miss Mona Sloan and she was maid-of-honor.

Mrs. B. T. Almon was called to Nashville last week by the death of her sister, Mrs. Katie Head. She returned home Sunday.

Voice of the Eastside

By MARY P. MCGUIRE

A general theme was centered around the word "usher" last week when ushers for the Rev. Martin Luther King mass meeting here recently were saluted by the Senate Avenue YMCA in a fellowship affair. Harry Hodges extended the welcome, while J. Thacker, vice-president of the City Usher Union, responded.

The letter "U" was discussed by Mrs. Lorena Bell, president of the City Usher Union, who said, "Ushers must be united to do the job well."

"The spirit of God must be in their hearts, not spirits," said Mrs. Erma Cavanaugh, assigned the letter "S."

"H" was for hospitality when Herman Appleton said, "Ushers must be generous and kind and make an effort to please the congregation." A representative of Corinthian Baptist Church, serving in the absence of Mrs. Maggie Portis, used "P" for the energy, an usher must have, while "R" was for reverence. Rev. W. I. Jones served in the absence of Arnold Gee.

Rev. Jones summarized the entire theme and closed by leading in singing a very inspirational selection.

Serving as toastmasters were Mrs. Gertrude Walker and Paul Tucker. Mrs. Lucille Dobbins introduced ministers and special guests. Final remarks came from John J. James, YMCA executive secretary; your Ole Scribe as chairman and Felix Moore, co-chairman.

Assisting in the receiving line were Mesdames Jessie Ervin, Irene Copeland, Mattie Appleton, Emma Valentine and Florence Martin and Messrs. Howard Connell and Emmanuel K. Higgins.

Speaking of the YMCA, a membership campaign is being organized, with Rev. A. J. Brown as general chairman assisted by Ernest Maye and Bernie Gellerman. With 300 workers needed, here is a wonderful opportunity for all East-siders to support one of their own.

Rev. Brown is pastor of St. John Missionary Baptist Church. The Eastside has the largest Negro population of any area in the city. Let's prove where our hearts are by having the largest membership percentage from any section.

Two very fine programs were given last Sunday, one of them being the annual semi-formal tea of Joshua Baptist Church, with Mrs. Jessie Ervin as chairman. The tea was given at the home of the Indiana State Federation of Colored Women's Clubs.

Atty. Frank Beckwith was principal speaker, and several other speakers and singing groups were heard. Final remarks came from Mrs. C. Kerr, Rev. S. Oglesby and the pastor, Rev. A. Batts.

The youth of True Vine Baptist Church, with Mrs. Idella Overton as director, celebrated their third anniversary last Sunday. Mrs. Naomi Edwards, supervisor, reports the program was a huge success.

West Virginia ROTC Glee Club To Sing in City

Arrangements are being made by the Phyllis Wheatley Branch YWCA to bring the ROTC Glee club of West Virginia State College to the city. The event will be held in April at the Attucks high school auditorium.

On the special committee in charge of the affair are Mesdames Katherine Dabner and Richard Pruitt, co-chairmen; Ethel LaShea, Mae Simmons, Herbert Higgins, M. Barnett, John Woolridge, Mattie Strickland, W. Akins, Isaac Warfield, James Pinkston, Norman Martin and W. D. English and Dr. Lois Brown.

Tee-Warner Tonga Club Lists Officers

The Tee-Warner Tonga club met Sunday with Mrs. Evelyn States, 550 W. 25th. Next meeting will be next Sunday with Mrs. Annabelle Williams, hostess at the same address.

Officers of the club are Mesdames William, president; Staten, vice-president; Carrie Revere, financial secretary; Willa Mae Davis, recording secretary-treasurer, and Elizabeth Johnson, reporter.

"LIFERS" — NAACP TYPE: These are all "lifers"—but their life term is for freedom rather than a jail term. Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Richardson (extreme right), chairman of the life membership campaign of the Indianapolis NAACP, entertained life members and prospective members at a tea last Sunday at their home, 4150 N. Illinois.

NAACP Life Members Enjoy Sunday Evening Coffee Hour

The Life Membership club of the Indianapolis NAACP enjoyed a coffee hour Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Richardson Jr., 4150 N. Illinois, and made plans for the 1959 life membership campaign to start officially Feb. 1.

"This is a most exclusive club which represents a cross-section of the community," commented Atty. Richardson, chairman of the drive. "Minimum requirement for membership is the willingness to give at least a dollar a week, or at least $50 per year, to the NAACP to pay the terrific cost of litigation in the battle for first-class citizenship."

A discussion was led by Atty. Richardson on the numerous cases before the NAACP on a national level as well as locally in the several Southern states. He explained the great need for money despite the fact that local attorneys serve without pay.

Three new life members joined the group at the coffee hour, including Robert Wilson, prominent pharmacist and owner of the Cross-Town pharmacy at 30th and Guilford and the Lockfield pharmacy; L. Aldridge Lewis, former deputy prosecutor and city attorney and now a member of the law firm of Richardson, Horca, Lewis and Allen at 38 N. Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Henry J. Richardson Jr., homemaker.

Atty. Lewis informed life members of pending civil rights legislation in the State Legislature, while Rev. Ford Bibson, Indianapolis NAACP president, explained how NAACP money is spent locally.

Tea and coffee were poured by Mesdames Ralph Hanley, Spurling Clark and Ford Gibson and Miss L. Naomi Wortham, secretary of the local NAACP branch.

Organizational members are the Indianapolis Links, local chapter of Omega Psi Phi fraternity, Women's Improvement club, Northside New Era Baptist and Bethel and St. John's AME Churches and a local of the United Automobile Workers.

Membership in this "exclusive" club is open to all. Atty. Richardson pointed out. Details may be secured from any of the life members.

Party Honors Susie Morris

A surprise birthday party for Mrs. Susie Morris, celebrating her 69th birthday, was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Martin, last week. Surrounded by her children and their families, which included a fourth generation member, Mrs. Morris cut a beautiful long birthday cake inscribed "Happy 69th Birthday, Mother." She also received an aluminum money tree.

It was a gala evening, with cake, ice cream, punch and party nuts for the young and old alike. Enjoying the party were Messrs. and Mesdames Leon Taylor, Robert Martin, James Buell, Lawrence Ridley, Clarence McClain, Darrell Morris, William Harney and Robert Morris and Charles Morris. Mr. and Mrs. Gene Taylor and family, making up part of the fourth generation, were seated for pictures with Mrs. Morris.

Mrs. Morris has been blessed with 11 children, 9 of whom are living, 23 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. A total of 27 attended the party.

Rev. Philip Emile Is 82 Years Old

Rev. Emile, a member of Tabernacle Baptist Church and Meridian Masonic Lodge No. 33, says his longevity is due to a belief in the practice of the principles of the Bible.

Evening Glamor Can Be in Store For Members of Sew-Your-Own Set

By EVELYN CUNNINGHAM

Even the most conservative woman will take a fling at a fad, when considering her evening wardrobe. Though she might be horrified at the idea of wearing a modified trapeze dress to her job, she will wear an extreme, tent-like trapeze gown to a dance!

She knows she can make her own gown at a minimum of expense and effort. She has a world of fabric and textures from which to choose. She knows she can find the exact tint of her favorite color. She knows she can keep up with fashion's fast pace.

The elegant, full-length, printed satin gown (McCall's Pattern 4733) was designed exclusively for McCall's by Pauline Trigrere. Made in two pieces, it has a long chemise-type tunic and a slim skirt which may be in evening or street length.

The hem of the tunic is bound in self or contrasting material and tied above the knee. This latter touch smacks of real chic.

Despite its simplicity of line and style, this gown has a definitely dramatic quality. It is the kind of gown which holds the eye.

The lush fabric used in the pictured gown has gold and bronze sunflowers printed on a soft cocoa ground. The band about the tunic hem is solid cocoa satin. Equally stunning would be a light-weight wool in black, with a street-length skirt and black satin banding.

Either short or long, this dress might be made in crepe, printed silk or cotton, shantung, silk and worsted, jersey or faille. A contrasting color or fabric might be used for the band.

Romantic and feminine is the street-length lace trapeze and sheath (McCall's Pattern 4657). Shown here in black Chantilly lace over ice blue satin, it can be worn in many ways.

First, the lace trapeze can be pulled in with a ribbon at the flounce line, giving an upside-down champagne glass effect below the knee. Secondly, a band may be sewn just below the bustline and around the back, pressing the Empire line. Thirdly, the lace sheath may be simply left at home, giving the wearer a Turn all eyes toward the femininity in a street-length lace duster that swirls around a fitted sheath. Make a provocative change when you pull it in just below the knee via a ribbon that gives you the bubble silhouette. Whichever way you make try McCall's Pattern #4657. Sizes 10-16. 75¢.

NEW CHURCH PROPOSED: Trinity CME Church is slated to begin construction on its proposed new church building April 13, the pastor, Rev. James L. Cummings, has announced. Members expect to save a sizeable portion of the $110,000 construction cost by doing much of the construction work themselves. Pledges of work and money will be made at a kickoff program Sunday at the church, 2249 Martindale.

Trinity CME Discloses Plans For New $100,000 Structure

I. U. Center Sets Small Business Problem Seminar

Problems of a small business will be studied in a seminar to be conducted for the first time during the spring semester by the Indiana University Downtown Center here.

Meeting each Wednesday evening at 8:15, beginning Feb. 4, the class is designed especially for people who plan to operate their own businesses.

Organization, location, management, accounting, financing, production and marketing problems will be stressed, with William P. Jones, attorney and accountant, as instructor.

The Downtown Center also has added to its business curriculum for the spring semester two eight-week courses for accountants preparing for CPA examinations. These classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evening, beginning March 31, with L. Vann Seawell, assistant professor of accounting at Indiana University, as instructor.

Also next semester, the IU center will offer business courses in accounting, office management, corporation finance, investment, business law, marketing, advertising, selling, management, real estate, calculations, communications, insurance and banking.

Registration and payment of fees will be Jan. 29-31, with classes beginning Feb. 2.

Trinity Christian Methodist Episcopal Church has revealed plans for a modern new church building, construction on which will begin in April.

Organized 37 years ago, the church, located at 2249 Martindale, has grown from a small mission into a progressive "family church" with a lively community outreach program. It has had several ministers during that time and each has made a definite contribution to the church's growth.

For the past four years, Rev. James L. Cummings has led the church in its building pursuit.

The new edifice will be built on the southeast corner of 23rd and Martindale. Construction will be of brick with laminated wood arches and roof supports.

Robert L. LaRue is architect. "While we're taking out our wails," Rev. Cummings said, "we'll also be rolling up our sleeves."

"AND I MEAN THIS literally," the enterprising young minister said. "The men of the church have pledged not only their money but their time and effort as well. We plan to cut down on construction costs by doing much of the work ourselves."

"We are greatly encouraged by the fact that many of the men in the community who are not even members of our church have volunteered their help. Naturally, I plan to do all I can myself."

Rev. Cummings attributes the willingness of the people in the community to help to the interest the church has taken in the civic and social problems of the community as a whole, particularly among the young people.

Many youth are attracted by the boys' club, YMCA committee and other youth activities. During the past three or four years, church membership has doubled.

Three major areas of concentration under Rev. Cummings have been Christian evangelism, Christian education and church expansion.

Elmon Myers, chairman of the building committee, said, ground will be broken during special ceremonies April 12 and construction will begin the next day. By doing much of the work themselves, church members expect to save at least $10,000 of the estimated $100,000 construction cost.

ALSO MEMBERS of the building committee are Ezell Brown, Theodore Westmoreland, Lewis Goodrich, Wilmont South, John Williams, Charles Russell, Auver Strickland and Mrs. Ethel Dunville. Plans include a 300-seat auditorium, a prayer chapel to be open 24 hours a day, a nursery adjacent to the main auditorium, several classrooms, pastor's study, offices, a choir loft and off-street parking facilities.

At a kickoff program Sunday, Feb. 1, members will make financial and work pledges, Rev. Cummings.

He also revealed that Rt. Rev. Luther C. Stewart of Hopkinsville, presiding bishop of the Second Episcopal District of the CME church, is directing a broad episcopal expansion program and Trinity church will be included.

Church Launches First Part of Missionary Charitable Project

If the dream of Rev. Roy W. Beverly, pastor of Zion Missionary Baptist Church, materializes, the community reached by the church will before long be enriched with a $200,000 community services program.

The minister, with nine years of work in the missionary field for the General Missionary Baptist State Convention, seems close to realizing his dream, the founding of the Zion Missionary Charitable Projects.

Greatest hope, he said, was in the enthusiastic cooperation of Broadway Baptist Church, where the first step of the long-range program envisioned by Rev. Beverly has already been made.

Services have already been held at Broadway Church by the congregation of Zion Baptist, which regularly meets at 552 Blake.

Rev. Beverly has been Zion pastor for 17 years and has been negotiating in recent weeks with representatives of the larger church.

THE PROGRAM HE SEES as significant for community development includes several major points: a religious and civic training department, juvenile aid center, unwed mothers' guidance department, orphanage, nursery and nurses' training department, old age headquarters and library center.

"We feel this is a much-needed and valuable service for the community in general," Rev. Beverly commented. "Such a program should be conducted by the church."

It is the fact that no other church has attempted to meet the challenges of society's ills which has prompted Rev. Beverly to tackle the program—"even though it may seem too big for a small church," he smilingly adds.

In the foreseeable future he hopes to have a working staff made up of his congregation and community people who are qualified. His plans call for incorporating the projects group and working out a program for financing the over-all project, which he thinks will cost at least $200,000.

The budget for 1959, he pointed out, was merely $40,000, forming a beginning nucleus. The immediate demands call for $5,000, and in raising that, Rev. Beverly has welcomed the support of any and all friends.

Already, without outside assistance, the small congregation has clothed children, given baskets of food to needy families and in other minor ways shown its realization of community responsibility. A service under the auspices of Zion Baptist Church was arranged for Friday night at the Broadway Church, with Rev. E. J. Odom of Twenty-Fifth Street Baptist Church being speaker.

Continuing the series, Rev. W. E. Starks, pastor of New Liberty Baptist Church, will preach on Feb. 6, and Rev. N. E. Vincent, pastor of Northside New Era Baptist Church, will preach Feb. 13.

REV. BEVERLY EMPHASIZES that the planned community program is not just an "irresponsible dream." He is already working on endorsement from responsible community agencies.

Work is nothing new for Rev. Beverly. President of the 10-year-old Progressive State Baptist Association, he has been a guiding spirit behind the State-Wide Baptist Fellowship, an organization of the four Baptist conventions in Indiana.

He admits that his dream is an ambitious one — "But God has never let me down yet," he adds.

Little Stories about Great Hymns

Awake My Soul
Awake, my soul, and with the sun
Thy daily stage of duty run;
Shake off dull cloth, and joyful rise
To pay thy morning sacrifice!

Bishop Ken, as a boy, was raised by Isaac Walton. He wrote this hymn for the use of students in Winchester College. It had 14 verses. Bishop Ken sang this hymn every morning upon waking, playing the accompaniment with his lute. At his request, when he died, he was buried at sunrise, and the singing of this hymn was almost the only ceremony that took place.

African Youths Riot After Turned Away At Political Meeting
BRUSSELS, Belgium — After they were refused admittance to a government-sponsored political meeting, several hundred African youths rioted last week in the Belgian Congo city of Matadi.

The mob injured a Belgian police officer, looted the courthouse and other government buildings and damaged a Roman Catholic mission before order was restored.

The meeting had been called by Belgian authorities to explain the government's long-term plan for local elections and eventual independence for the big central African colony.

After the main street was cleared and order was restored, African troops built barricades between the European district and the native section.

Chatter for the College Set

By BILL RASPBERRY

Greetings, collegians, and congratulations for having passed your semester exams with flying colors (as I'm sure you did). With finals over and done, maybe activity among the college set will begin to pick up.

Let's hope so, anyway.

Those of you who've been reading the column more than a year will probably recall why I never make New Year's resolutions on the traditional day.

On Jan. 1, most of us are still exhausted, physically and mentally, from the Christmas shopping and mailing rush. Add to that the after-effects of a wild and woolly New Year's celebration and you can see that Jan. 1 comes close to being the very worst possible time to chart one's course for a whole year.

It's pretty tough to take an objective look at your life through bloodshot eyes. Although my published resolutions are usually on the humorous side, I've decided to be slightly more serious this year (stop reading when you're bored):

1. To use the column to promote civic and intellectual improvement among Indianapolis young adults.
2. To include the activities and accomplishments of a larger number of young adults from all parts of the city in the weekly "chatter."
3. To cooperate more fully with the worthy causes promoted by young adult groups.
4. To stop describing all parties as "swinging"—even when they are lousy.
5. To improve and increase my collection of jokes.
6. To eliminate gossip from the column.
7. To pay serious attention to all constructive criticism.
8. To worry less about what people will think and start doing the things I really want to do.
9. To read at least one good book, attend one good movie and one good concert every month.
10. To fall madly in love before June.

Beginning Sunday, Feb. 1, the Community Youth League will sponsor a forum series on marriage and family.

"Choosing a Mate" will be the first topic discussed, with Mrs. Ulysses J. Orrid as speaker.

Other topics will include "Problems Facing Marriage," "Sex Education," "Planned Parenthood," "Budgeting and Finance" and "The Importance of Stable Family Life." An audio-visual presentation summing up all the forums will end the series.

To be held at Witherspoon United Presbyterian Church, the forum will be geared to the 18-25 age range.

Al Officer is league president. After nearly a month of social lethargy, Indianapolis young adults finally decided to come on with some parties, probably occasioned by the end of final exams.

Starting things off Friday night were the Co-Ed Stag group of the Phyllis Wheatley YWCA and the NAACP Youth Council with dances at the "Y" and Kingan's Union Hall respectively.

At least four parties followed Saturday night.

Theresa Smith was hostess at a set at 3002 N. California. Pat Beeler hosted a party at her home on Moore road; Sharon Suber greeted scores of guests at an enjoyable session at her home, 441 W. 25th, and Kappas entertained at the home of Scroller Forrest Jones, 1215 W. 36th.

Guests at all the sets report having a really nice time.

The Kappa Kastle at 42nd and Boulevard is coming along nicely, and if the undergrad members join the alumni chapter in their painting and clean-up efforts, it should be in shape for a party soon.

Semester-break houseguests of Roselyn Green, 1654 Carrollton, were two of her IU dorm-mates, Thelma Perry, East St. Louis, and Aylene Chamer, East Chicago.

Spending the long weekend with Barbara Owens, 3815 Boulevard, were Charlene Cobb, Kingsford Heights, and Pauline Ford and Jacqueline Sanders, both of Gary.

Dave Martin, Purdue engineering student from Rochester, spent the break with Fred Parker, 234 W. 25th.

Fay Brownlee, IU cde, has as mid-term guests Nancy Street, Sandra Roberts and Carolyn Woolridge, all of South Bend, Lillian Forter joined the group for breakfast Sunday.

Jim Cornet, here on furlough during the Christmas holidays, was back in town again last weekend. He must be dating the CO's daughter.

The Vel Veltons will sponsor another "Come Casual" dance Feb. 20 at Kingan's Union Hall. Tickets may be obtained from the sponsor, Mrs. Mary Jones.

Newly elected officers are Edith Harrison, president; Wanda Harris, vice-president; Carol Williams, secretary; Peggy Sue Harrison, corresponding secretary, and Louise Kroye, treasurer.

New Classes Will Teach Handicrafts

Two types of free Red Cross handicraft classes will begin during February. On Feb. 3 and 5, handicraft classes for leaders of Scouts, Campfire Girls and other youth groups will be held one morning a week for eight sessions. Leaders will learn textile painting, leather work, plastics, ceramics, basket weaving and jewelry making. A $5 fee is charged for supplies, but Red Cross instruction is free.

More volunteers are needed to teach handicrafts as Red Cross arts and skills instructors in the occupational therapy program at the veterans' hospitals, Central State Hospital, Julietta, and the Indiana School for the Blind.

A hospital training class will begin on Feb. 6 to train arts and skills instructors for this work. The class will meet in both the morning and afternoons for 10 weeks. Persons interested in registering for any of the three free classes should call the Red Cross office at ME. 4-1414.

He succeeds Rev. Arthur L. Jelks, who declined to run. Born in Albany, N.Y., the 34-year-old minister grew up in Pottsville, Pa. A veteran of nine years in the Armed Forces, Rev. King served in the Army, Navy and Air Force, during and after World War II.

Before accepting the call to the pastorate of Liberty Baptist Church in 1956, he served for two years as pastor of Fifth Ward Baptist Church at Clarksville, Tenn.

THE NEW PRESIDENT expressed great faith in the future of Evansville for all its citizens but said he was not unmindful of the many inequities and social problems confronting minority groups in the city.

"There is no prevailing local situation," he said, "which cannot be resolved by the exercise of courage, unity and lawful and proper procedure."

He said he would seek:

1. Equal job opportunities and fair employment practices.
2. Elimination of discrimination in certain restaurants in the city.
3. Participation of minority groups in city administration in appointive and elective capacities.
4. Placement of qualified clerks in groceries, supermarkets and department stores.

Elks' 'Assistance' Campaign Raises $100,000 Aid Fund

MEMPHIS—The Elks' "Massive Assistance" campaign to raise $100,000 to finance scholarships was expected to be successfully concluded Jan. 30.

So stated General George W. Lee of this city, grand commissioner of education of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, as he discussed the coming "National Citizenship" banquet at Philadelphia's Broadwood Hotel, where scholarships will be awarded to outstanding student.

"Financing scholarships is an old story with the Negro Elks," he said. "In the past quarter century our department of education has raised a million and a half dollars and given out more than 800 scholarships. This money has come from rich and poor in Negro Elksdom and is a concrete evidence of the capacity of colored people to help themselves."

"Right now," he continued, "we have 46 students on our scholarship roll in American, Canadian and Mexican universities."

Behind this annual effort is a far-flung and influential 60-year-old fraternal group with 1,500 lodges and 1,000 temples.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC hears too little about it, but it is most effective in citizenship building. There is an Elks lodge in almost every sizeable Negro community in the country.

The dollars for scholarships are raised throughout the year in a variety of ways from membership collections to mass meetings and turkey raffles. They all lead up to the great annual banquet at which bright youngsters are handed checks by the grand exalted ruler.

Dr. Robert H. Johnson, enabling them to get a higher education.

The IBPOEW scholarship program has been highly praised by such diverse personalities as President Eisenhower, Vice-President Nixon, Postmaster-General Summerfield, Maryland's Gov. Theodore McKeldin, U. S. Representatives Joseph Martin, Carroll Reece, Charles Diggs and Adam Clayton Powell; Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of Howard University; Dr. Benjamin Fine, noted education editor, and Rev. Joseph Selinger, S. J., of Georgetown University.

THE ELKS' DRAW NO color line in their national oratorical contests from which most recipients of scholarships are drawn. One white lad who won an IBPOEW oratorical contest received a scholarship to attend Georgetown University while a Jewish boy is attending Harvard University on another.

Dr. Johnson sums up the Elks' effort by saying, "Our youth must have encouragement, money and moral support to forge ahead in developing their skills in the fields of science, engineering and health. We intend to keep the light of education burning."

Which Flag, U. S. Or Confederate? Texan Wants to Know

HOUSTON, Tex. (ANP)—At a meeting addressed by Gov. Oral Faubus of Arkansas here recently, there was such a display of Confederate flags that a confused Texan thought he was required to make a choice between the U. S. flag and the Rebel emblem.

While the audience assembled, the Confederate flags were distributed. As the meeting started, the audience was asked to stand and give the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

"Which flag?" asked the man. The story was reported by The Texas Observer.

45 YEARS OF PROGRESS: Weapons and cars have come a long way since the original 1914 Dodge served with the U. S. Army during the Mexican Border incidents. Shown are a '14 Dodge with an old artillery howitzer at Fort Bliss, Tex., and a sleek 1959 Dodge Custom Royal four-door Lancer, such as may be seen at Capitol Motors, 447 N. Capitol, ME. 4-5394. The Lancer is one of the firm's 45th anniversary cars and is shown with Army Nike-Ajax missiles at a Midwest anti-aircraft installation.

Filibuster 'Deal' Will be Remembered

Only the most naive of observers would be surprised to discover that several "deals" were made in putting across Sen. Lyndon Johnson's "compromise" filibuster bill. When senators forgot en masse the statements they had made as recently as two or three days before the sorry spectacle earlier this month, it should be apparent to anyone that there were reasons other than simple conviction.

Most of those reasons boil down to a pretty basic issue of self-aggrandizement. A committee assignment here, a promise of support there — these are the things which had old and new senators alike, including Indiana's own R. Vance Hartke (Dem.), forgetting the voters back home and forgetting also their pre-election promises or hints of promises in the area of civil rights legislation.

That the acceptance of the Texas Democrat's "compromise" is just another victory for the Solid South is a sad commentary upon the integrity and sincerity of senators from the North and West. The Solid South has once again shown its crippling power over the rest of the nation, and no one is fooled by such inane ravings as the Georgia Democrat Sen. Russell's cry that it's a "sad day" for the South. The South, as usual, is victorious.

What these turncoat senators may perhaps not realize is that they have constituencies back home and that their power is somewhat greater even than that of Sen. Johnson's. Or at least it should be. Ultimately it is the voter at home who sells himself down the river, because generally there are indications of what will happen once a man is in office. Indiana — including its Negroes — had such indications, but chose to ignore them. Will they forget them next time?

NAACP Life Members Where Are the Others?

The Indianapolis NAACP, in common with branches the country over, has launched its annual drive for life members, those civic-minded individuals who belong to the nation's most "exclusive" club — with an exclusiveness easily shared by anyone willing to put aside less than a dollar a week for the next 10 years. Aside from the prestige which comes from being a $500 member of the NAACP and the apparent advantages of life membership in the organization, there is the quiet satisfaction of knowing one has made a real contribution toward progress which should make everyone able — and that's a lot of people, even in Indianapolis — want to be a life member.

This city has what would appear to be an impressive number of such members, until one begins noticing omissions. Where are the doctors, the dentists, the ministers, the teachers — those who spend money lavishly in entertaining, buying big cars and in general making a "big splash"? Where are those who are keeping the Indianapolis life membership roll from being truly indicative of the wealth of this city? Where are those who claim to be interested in first-class citizenship for all?

They are missing! Some of them become the cheapest members possible and pride themselves upon supporting the NAACP; more of them give nothing and try to deceive the public by "talking a whole lot of" civil rights; others admit they're not concerned about "race progress," but ARE concerned about big parties, big cars and big dinners. As this year's drive is conducted, we hope fewer Indianapolis people will cause their friends or public to wonder, "Where are the others?"

UNCF Means Scholarships for Many

When mention is made of the United Negro College Fund, most people think in terms of giving — which is good, as most disingenuously much needs to be given. Few of them think in terms of receiving — which is bad, because most of the member colleges allow the public to receive far more than they give.

Just one area of this "receiving" is that of scholarships. Part of the "special services to education" of the UNCF is a cooperative program through which 28 of the participating colleges select candidates for scholarship awards of more than $200,000 annually. The cooperative intercollegiate examination program, since its inception in 1951, has been successful in meeting the problem of duplication of admission and scholarship procedures for evaluating high school seniors.

The scholarship program is made possible, of course, chiefly through the generosity of the public reached during the UNCF drive. We hope Indianapolis residents — and more of them are alumni of the UNCF schools than might be generally believed — will remember this when asked to give to the United Negro College Fund.

Youth Week Can Be Positive Force

This week has been observed by most churches as Youth Week. Some of the churches have given token observance to the week by having special programs featuring the young people; others have had special sermons directed at the youth, or have in some way given recognition to the fact that young people are not actually forbidden to take a role in church activity or leadership.

Every youth speaker at some time or another says in so many words that "today's youth are tomorrow's leaders," and most audiences or congregations applaud prettily, then forget about it. Until today's leaders really feel this fact and make it real in their own work, it's just another one of the many empty platitudes which make so much of what passes as speech-making today sound good while affecting nothing.

The stake placed in today's youth is a high one, just as it has always been. Today's youth has always been tomorrow's leaders, but the tomorrow which looms ahead seems to demand a special type of leadership, perhaps better prepared than ever before. If today's leaders do not have the unselfishness to give inspiration to today's youth, to direct them and put their feet on solid ground for tomorrow's challenges, we face a sorry future indeed. Youth Week should be more than merely a time to give recognition to young people; it should serve to remind adults of their heavy duty in consistently preparing tomorrow's adults for healthy, contributive living.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Jesus Questioned About The Tribute Money

By the Union Baptist Alliance
Rev. J. T. HIGHBAUGH, Editor

(LESSON TEXT: Luke 20: 19-26; Romans 13:1-10. MEMORY VERSE: Luke 20:25). Four great questions have been presented in this quarter to grip our attention. They all came up in Passion Week, the week of the Crucifixion. These key questions concern Jesus' authority in life and the church. His attitude about Roman taxes, the Resurrection and the first and great Commandment.

We have already discussed the first question; this week let us consider the second.

WHEN CHURCH LEADERS PLAY POLITICS (Luke 20: 9-22). It is hardly possible to start this lesson where it begins or end it where it stops. Jesus in the great parable of the vineyard and the husbandmen told His audience in Luke 20:18 that, so to speak, His Father owned the temple which had merely been let out to them as mere Stewards of His management.

He told them the prophets and priests before them had been sent to the temple and in their mad rush for power had been beaten up, maltreated and many of them killed. So now here He was—God's Son—and He knew they would kill Him in their mad rush for power.

This "threat," as they termed it, enraged them so that scribes, Pharisees, Herodians and Sadducees got together and said, "If we can get Him killed by His advising the people not to pay Roman taxes, we will have a just complaint before Pilate, and Pilate will get rid of Him for us."

It is a dangerous thing for religious leaders to plot and plan too much to perpetuate their office. It is surprising how much "self" gets mixed into this type of thing. Disputes over respect of how long I've been a member of this church, motions to suspend rules under high emotion to perpetuate a group in power, over power of the preacher, deacon board, association or executive board may be an invitation to your own fall of power.

Remember, "He that exalteth himself shall be abased." Each teacher, leader or church officer must take this very seriously — whether Catholic, Protestant or Jew.

THE THINGS THAT ARE CAESAR'S (Luke 20:23-25). "Bring Me a penny," said Jesus. "What image and superscription has it?" and they answered, "Caesar's."

So He said, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

Government, said He, as long as it recognizes the existence of a Higher Power than itself, is ordained for reasonable human welfare.

There is a realm of relative authority God gives to kings, presidents and governments which must be respected as God's ministry for men living together here on this earth. And they must be respected in their due relationship, and is they fulfill this stewardship of government, they maintain their rights to exist.

If not, they clash and will be moved as was the temple leadership at Jerusalem in AD

70. In our own government, these rights are duly respected in the Declaration of Independence of the United States of America:

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal and that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights: life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and that to secure these rights governments are instituted among men deriving their powers from the consent of the governed.

This recognizes there is a realm in which civil governments serve immensely for the Common Good.

THE THINGS THAT ARE GOD'S (Luke 20:25-26; Pt. 24; I Cor. 6:19-20). However, this same lesson says, something else which goes into the very constitution of the universe itself.

All things belong to God. And this is no derived ownership, for by creation they are His. He has put His very mark on them. Man was created in His Image. Most of us Christians confess we are His by purchase (I Cor. 6:19-20) and so we owe Him a tribute too. I am sure if these faithful Jews had not been paying their tithes so well, Jesus would have mentioned them here as He did in Mal. 3:8-10 and Matt. 23:23.

The years have taught both church and state leaders much. For years, the great Roman Church delegated to her leaders the pope, power over the magistrate or king of thought, life or limb.

Readings like this which are from Roman Catholic authors and authorities substantiate the Catholic Church's right to excommunicate and punish — even to death — those who they say are heretics:

Pope Boniface: "Now therefore we declare, say, determine or pronounce that for every human creature it is necessary for salvation that they be subject to the authority of the Roman Pontiff."

Catholic Encyclopedia, Vol. XV, Page 126: "To exclude the Church from the business of life, from the power of making laws, from the training of youth, from the domestic life is a fatal error. It would be very erroneous to draw the conclusion that in America is to be sought the most deplorable status of the Church and State or that it should be accepted as the most expedient relationship of Church and State in America discovered and divorced."

So you see that we are in constant battle to support the First Amendment to our constitution: "Congress shall make no laws respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof or abridging the freedom of speech, or the press, or the right of the people to peaceably assemble and petition their government for redress of grievances."

This will be a long, tedious battle on the part of us Protestants because, with our Catholic brethren as with us, it takes much humility to surrender preferred privileges and to curb an evil in the social system that is guarded by an institution of religion.

Somehow, Somewhere, Something Went Wrong

Every hamlet, town or city has its "Skid Row," and May-bloss County was no exception. "Skunk Hollow" was the name, and although the name is descriptive of its people and living conditions, there were several people who were exceptions. But of course it is not the exception which concerns us.

"Skunk Hollow" was a small town. His wife and children were referred to as "the Mrs. and the little skunks." Of course, it was only when the Whites weren't around that the people dared use these nicknames.

The Whites' five-room shack sort of nestled comfortably in the clutter of tree stumps, broken pieces of glass, beer cans and other bits of debris. A gray-white picket fence tried to encircle the shack, but failed at the entrance.

The old truck which Mr. White used for picking up trash on his extra job as "trash hauler" stood in the front yard. A mysterious traveling rose bush forced its way along and up the jagged edges of a hanging plank of the fence.

The entirety only suggested that humans existed here rather than lived. A piano, a chair and table comprised the living room furniture. The dining room contained a huge round table with pieces of chairs about; in the kitchen was a stove, icebox and table. There was a bed in each of the two bedrooms.

'Kissing Case' Represents South's Utter Moral Debasement

"A kiss is just a kiss" went the popular song a few years back and we listeners were admonished that a kiss in itself is meaningless.

But events of recent years have taught Americans that a glance for a while, much less a kiss, if it involves a Negro male and a white female, without regard to age, is looked upon as a major crime in that barbaric section of the United States called the South.

The fact that a Negro boy, Emmett Till, could be murdered and his murderers regarded as heroes in backward Mississippi shocked the civilized world and even momentarily stunned the Southern sympathizers in Indianapolis.

The conviction of a Negro man for ravishing a white woman with his eyes at a distance of 80 feet a year or so later in a more "liberal" Southern state cast some doubt on the civility of the former Confederate States.

Violence visited upon children in Little Rock and Clinton, Tenn., confirmed the suspicion that the South is indeed very psychotic.

BUT IT REMAINED for the most "liberal" of the Bible Belt states, North Carolina, to demonstrate just how perverse Southern humanity is. For it was in the benighted town or Monroe, seat of Union County, N. C., that two Negro boys were arrested and convicted because one of them had been kissed by a white girl.

The two boys, James Hanover, aged 9, and 8-year-old David "Fuzzy" Simpson, had been the object of a city-wide manhunt before they were arrested by police in a squad car late on the afternoon of Oct. 28, 1958. They were held incommunicado for six days in the county jail.

On Nov. 3 the boys' mothers, who were domestic workers and the sole supports of their large families, were ordered to appear in court where their sons were to go on trial.

The desperate mothers notified Robert F. Williams, president of the Union County NAACP, to join them in court. Mr. Williams hurried to the court, but was not admitted.

The boys were charged with assault upon three white females, aged 6 and 7. None of the allegedly assaulted females was in court, nor were their parents. The judge said he had talked to the girls and their parents earlier in the day.

According to the story outlined by the judge, J. Hampton Price, the defendants had gone into a white neighborhood and climbed down uninvited into a culvert ditch where three little white girls were playing and demanded a kiss of each as the price of their getting out.

TWO OF THE GIRLS escaped, according to this version, but the third girl had kissed the Thompson boy.

After he had completed relating this story Judge Price, despite the fact that there was no defense counsel and no testimony from the defendant's, sentenced the boys to indeterminate terms in the state reformatory school on the admonition that if they were good they could get out before they were 21.

It was a month later before the boys' version of the incident was heard. The president of the local NAACP, Robert F. Williams, George L. Weissman, a free-lance writer, and Conrad Lynn, a civil rights lawyer from New York, were allowed to see the boys in the Reform School for Negro Boys at Hoffman, N. C.

The boys admitted they had been walking down the street in a white neighborhood, since the neighborhood in which they lived is completely surrounded by white neighborhoods.

They said they saw a group of white boys playing cowboys and joined in. The three girls were watching from the sidelines. When the game broke up, the girls were playing in the ditch.

With one of the white boys, the Negro boys also entered the ditch where the girls were playing. The white boy suggested that they play a kissing game in which each girl was to sit on a boy's lap and kiss him "like in the movies or on TV."

The Thompson boy said both he and the white boy were kissed, but that the Simpson boy did not play.

IT WAS ONLY BY CHANCE that the white girl's mother learned about the incident while the girl was relating her experiences of the day.

In a chain of events, a group of white men descended upon the Thompson and Simpson homes looking for the mothers. The mothers were forced to hide for a week, and there was talk of a lynching.

That is what happened as far as is known, but what is startling is that because a little seven-year-old white girl either willingly or unwillingly kissed a nine-year-old Negro boy, the whole white community was worked up to fever heat and gave whole-hearted endorsement to the judge's verdict, as did North Carolina's Governor Hodges, a phony liberal.

But even more surprising is the fact that daily newspapers all over the nation either completely ignored the story or treated it very lightly. Papers which cry out against Communist atrocities or the bloody battles of Fidel Castro are strangely silent when Negroes are the objects of inhuman treatment, even though they be children.

And Negroes who take comfort in the fact that these things are happening in the South should awaken to the fact that these atrocities have the silent endorsement of those in a position to influence public opinion elsewhere in this land of the free (?). And where is the guy who wrote the words "A kiss is just a kiss"?

Letters to the Editor...

'Certain Matters' with Police Need Attention, Lawyer Feels

To the Editor:

It has recently come to my attention that the city administration is patting itself on the back for the fact that it has upgraded several Negroes in the Indianapolis Police Department.

I am personally happy to congratulate the City of Indianapolis for having the intestinal fortitude to recognize merit and ability without regard to race, creed or color.

However, in recent months certain matters have come to my attention concerning the activities of the Indianapolis Police Department which would seem to require a closer examination.

Recent ly, the Board of Safety suspended two Negro members of the Indianapolis Police Department for failure to make arrests in situations which later were dismissed by the court as not being in violation of the criminal code of Indiana or of violation of the ordinance of the City of Indianapolis.

THESE TWO NEGRO officers received a suspension for a period of 60 days for failure to make arrests of an interracial couple who were charged by white police officers with dancing with one another.

On the other hand, the police husband of a white policeman received a 10-day suspension for brutally beating a Negro in police custody who was charged with "patting the white policeman's rear."

In addition to these foregoing examples, two Negro employees of the RCA Company were intimidated, arrested and treated with disrespect by certain members of the Indianapolis Police Department, who joined with certain unnamed white ruffians while the men were en route from their place of employment to their homes.

This all appears to be a part and parcel of a program geared to deprive the Negro citizens of this community of their civil rights under the laws and Constitution of the United States.

In view of the fact that the Negro press of Indianapolis has been in possession of all the facts in these cases, it would appear that the Negro newspapers of Indianapolis would take a definite stand in an effort to bring the proper pressure on the Indianapolis Police Department to revise its pattern of operation toward the Negro community.

In spite of expectations from the efforts of the court.

Institutionalization was eventually utilized. It was later the combined opinion of the probation and child guidance clinic staffs that since Rae's environment could not be manipulated, it would be necessary to remove her out of the damaging conditions.

Rae is back in the community now—a productive citizen, but scarred from the deleterious effects of a sick and unhealthy social background.

SOMEHOW, SOMEWHERE something went wrong! Was it with the community leaders in allowing the growth of the Negro press and in spite of the fact that the Negro in Marion County has just recently supported the Democratic Party in the county in the recent elections by a vote of more than three to one, the city administration has utterly failed to take any action to correct the present attitude of the members of the Indianapolis Police Department toward the Negro citizens of this community, who comprise approximately 15 percent of the whole.

IT IS AMAZING that Mr. Opal Tandy in his position as publisher of the Herald-Times newspaper has failed to bring this matter to the attention of Mr. Philip L. Bayt, former mayor and presently prosecuting attorney, and Mr. Charles Eoswell, present mayor of the City of Indianapolis.

Certainly until these outstanding citizen positive steps to acquaint members of the Indianapolis Police Department with the facts of life regarding treatment of minority groups in the City of Indianapolis, we are going to have a situation which amounts to the citizens of the City of Indianapolis sitting on a powder keg and being subjected to a situation which may explode at any moment in the form of a race riot.

The present situation exists because of the apathy of the members of the city administration toward training the Indianapolis Police Department in modern methods of making arrests and investigations in situations involving non-whites and minority groups of the City of Indianapolis.

Until something is done in this regard, it would appear that the mouthpieces of the Democratic leadership of the City of Indianapolis concerning law enforcement are just that — mouthpieces!

Rufus C. Kuykendall, 306 Walker Building.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Regular readers of The Recorder are, of course, aware that this paper has consistently displayed prominently news of police injustices and has also editorialized vigorously against them, while staunchly defending the department when it is in the right. Presumably the reference to Mr. Tandy is made because he has been a prominent figure in Democratic Party politics.

slums? Yes, somehow, somewhere, something went wrong!

IHSAA SUED IN STEVENSON CASE

Oscar Denies He'll Quit College to Turn Pro

CINCINNATI — Oscar Robertson, leading the nation with a 32.9 average through last week, has denied he'll quit college in order to turn pro.

The "Big O," who was seen by millions of fans on television Saturday, made the statement in connection with an article in Sports Illustrated magazine.

The writer, Jeremiah Tax, asserted that Oscar is "restless," has lost interest in his studies and "is very sensitive to the daily problems he must face as a Negro, both in Cincinnati and on team trips."

But Robertson told newsmen in reply: "Tax talked with me right after the Dixie Classic and after our game with Bradley when I was down in the dumps and pretty sore at the world."

"I was out on work section and was registering for next term when he interviewed me."

"I told him I definitely will play next year at the University of Cincinnati and will finish school before going into professional ranks. I never told him I was unhappy at UC."

To the writer's assertion that Oscar said, "There's no real social life for me here," the "Big O" commented: "He got that himself."

OSCAR WILL NOT be eligible for the National Basketball Association until after the 1959-60 season, Tax predicted, however, that the Harlem Globetrotters "may get Robertson soon," following the example of Wilt Chamberlain who quit college to go with the Trotters.

But, according to Dick Forbes of the Cincinnati Enquirer, Oscar was more impressed by the example of Elgin Baylor, who waited until his college class graduated in order to join the Minneapolis Lakers. Baylor said of the Globetrotters that he "never wanted to be known as a clown."

Coach George Smith, reported "furious" at the magazine story, pleaded: "College basketball needs players of Oscar's caliber and sincerity. Let's not push them into pro ranks before they have finished their education."

Meanwhile TV viewers saw a superlative performance by the former Attucks All-American as Cincinnati slaughtered crosstown rival Xavier 92-66.

Oscar scored 38 points against the 1958 National Invitational Tournament champions. But what had to be seen to be believed were his rebounding and assists.

A WEEK EARLIER at Des Moines, Iowa, he had set a Drake Memorial Auditorium record of 40 points while the Bearcats swamped Drake 97-60. The former high was 28, set by Drake's Red Murrell two years ago.

In that game the Bearcats set a new Cincinnati school record for shooting from the field.

They singled the nets with 42 of 71 tries for a .591 percentage.

Oscar's next nationwide TV appearance will be March 7 against Bradley.

Jones Expected Back With Tigers

Bill Jones, Attucks' 6-7 sophomore center, was expected to be back in action this weekend as the Tigers faced Howe (at Tech's gym) on Friday, Jan. 30, and Martinsville on Saturday at Martinsville.

Jones suffered a broken small foot-bone in the Shortridge game Jan. 13. He was still favoring the foot last week.

Bill Garrett's boys turned in a sizzling three-quarters as they romped over weak Gary Wallace last Saturday, 69-37. Larry McIntyre led the way with 17 points, followed by Bobby Edmonds with 16, Claude Williams 12 and Don Swift 10.

Jim Gholston, another "pony" guard who became eligible the day before, looked good handling the ball and shooting despite first-night jitters. He hit a pair of baskets.

TABLES WERE TURNED in the 4th quarter when the visitors outscored Attucks 10-6. The Tigers' peculiar situation is that, aside from Edmonds, the great-looking 6-5 and 6-6 boys aren't effective. This is one team where the domination of the tall man seems to be reversed.

Earlier in the week Attucks knocked off Lafayette Jeff 52-47, with co-captains Jerry Hazelwood and McIntyre benched most of the game for missing practice.

SHALL THEY PLAY BASKETBALL?: Billy Joe Stevenson (right) and his brother Frank are storm-centers of a lawsuit that might bring King IHSAA toppling from his throne.

The Association has ruled them ineligible ever to play on teams of Seymour Shields high school. But parents' suit filed this week claims IHSAA has no legal right to judge eligibility. (Recorder photo by Jim Bures)

Seymour Parents Challenge Refusal to Let Boys Play

BROWNSTOWN — Billy Joe and Frank Stevenson were declared temporarily eligible for basketball Tuesday in a restraining order handed down by Jackson Circuit Court Judge John M. Lewis. A hearing on their suit for an injunction was set for Feb. 11.

BROWNSTOWN — A lawsuit that could rock the Indiana High School Athletic Association to its very foundations was to be filed here Monday by the skyscraping Stevenson brothers of Seymour.

The basketball-playing boys, 6-6½ Billy Joe, a sophomore, and 6-5 Frank, a freshman, asked the Jackson Circuit Court to restrain the IHSAA and 43 other defendants from holding them ineligible for high school competition.

Action on behalf of the tall Negro youngsters was taken by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stevenson. Their attorneys are Thomas H. Branaman of Brownstown, and Patrick E. Chavis, Jr., and Willard B. Ransom of Indianapolis. Chavis and Ransom are NAACP leaders.

Filing of the suit for temporary injunction, restraining order and a permanent injunction was originally scheduled for Thursday of last week. An unexplained delay was believed caused by heavy winter floods and the necessity of preparing notices for the almost 50 defendants.

Targets of the sought-for injunction were the IHSAA itself, Commissioner Robert S. Hinshaw, Conner K. Salm, president, and four members of the board of control; 25 members of the IHSAA Athletic Council including Marion Crawley, basketball coach at Lafayette Jefferson high school.

Also named defendants, in an effort to prohibit them carrying out IHSAA orders in the famed "Stevenson Case," were Shields high school of Seymour, which the boys attend; Principal Joseph Cull, Athletic Director David Shaw, Basketball Coach Robert Lockmiller, Seymour Community Schools Superintendent Robert D. Eulitt; Everett Donica, president, Trustees, and four board members.

THE BOYS, who are 16 and 14, moved with their family to Seymour last Aug. 1 from Joppa, Ill., where Billy Joe had already starred in basketball in his freshman year.

After protests from Joppa school authorities, the IHSAA ruled that "undue influence" had been exercised to induce them to make the move. They were declared ineligible for inter-school athletics as long as they shall attend Seymour Shields high school.

This, according to their attorneys, deprives the boys of important facilities of their high school education, which are paid for at taxpayers' expense and designed "to give each student the benefit of maximum preparation of mind and body for life."

In the case of the Stevenson youngsters it is thought possible that through high school play they might receive college scholarships and conceivably could even go on to pro basketball.

THE LAWSUIT contends in the first place that the IHSAA's action against the Stevensons was taken "arbitrarily and capriciously without any sufficient legal justification."

Mr. Ransom told The Recorder he and Mr. Chavis had warned Commissioner Phillips during the IHSAA hearings that proper legal procedures were not being followed. "There is a definition of 'undue influence' under the law, but the IHSAA did not observe it," he charged.

Far more fundamental, however, is the suit's contention that the IHSAA, a private self-organized body, has no lawful right to declare students of public high schools ineligible.

The Association "has usurped an actual monopoly over the conduct of athletics in the public high schools" and exercises "dictatorial powers" over the athletic programs, it is charged, controlling finances of games and tournaments which are held in tax-supported buildings.

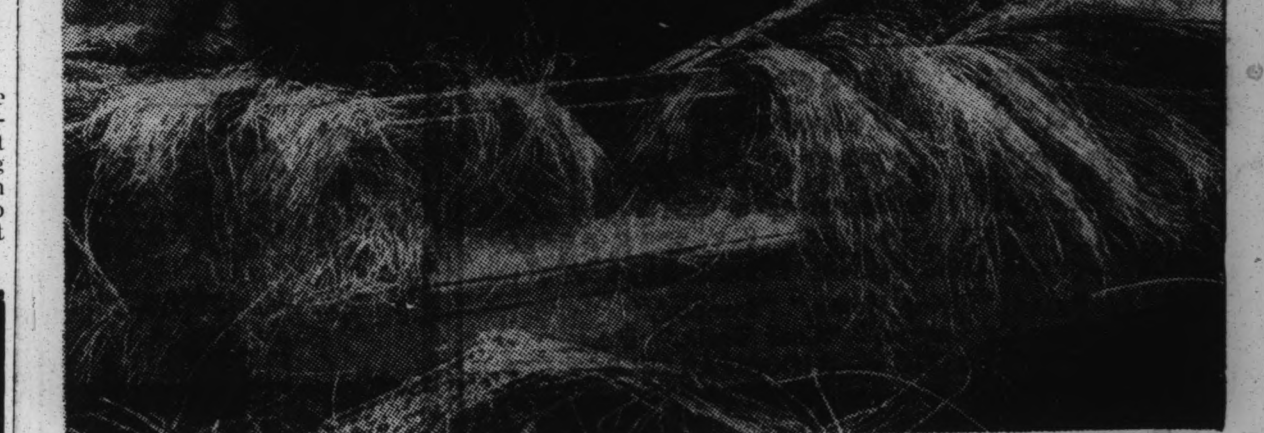

If pursued to its logical conclusion, this line of reasoning would probably place all high school athletics under the State Department of Public Instruction. In fact, a bill to this effect was introduced in the state legislature at the time Negro and Catholic schools were trying to gain entrance into the IHSAA. They were then "voluntarily" admitted and the bill was dropped.

A HEART-RENDING PICTURE of the Stevensons' actual reasons for moving to Indiana is painted in the lawsuit.

Joppa is a town of 500 inhabitants on the Ohio River between Cairo, Ill., and Paducah, Ky. There the Stevenson family, which includes also two younger children, was living "in a 4-room shack without running water or indoor plumbing and sanitation facilities; said shack had no floor coverings, no central heating" and did not protect the Stevensons "from the vicissitudes and inclemencies of the seasons."

Mr. Stevenson had no regular job in Joppa, and for several months prior to their leaving earned less than $10 a week from his employment, which was carrying railroad ties. Billy Joe was employed on a garbage truck for two hours a day at the rate of 55 cents an hour. Even so, he off-

Top Keglers Coming to Sea's Tourney

It won't be long now till Sea Ferguson's 12th Annual Tournament — the oldest singles tournament sponsored by a Negro in the U. S.

Bowlers will come from far and near to roll Saturday and Sunday, March 7-8.

Top bowlers coming in will include Sterling "Pepper" Pot, Scott, Charley Bedell, Cleveland Cox and Arthur Plant of Cleveland. Cox and Plant are former winners, with Bedell being a runner-up.

From Chicago will come Maurice Kilgore, a former winner; Billy Hampton, 2-time winner; Wilbur Sims, Lamar Collins and Arthur "Sunny" Goodman, all of whom have been runners-up; Lanky Williams, Jack Marshall and Thomas "Foots" Washington.

Detroit's delegation will feature Bill Rhodman, twice a winner and once a runner-up; Maceo Kelly, George Williams, C. W. Williams, Lafayette Allen and Len Griffin. Expected from the East are Jimmy Merritt, Eddie Alexander, Al Levins and Ted Page.

Wes Bascom of St. Louis also will send his wrecking crew over. A total of $1,610 in prizes is guaranteed. This is not based on 120 entries, but regardless of whether there are 20 bowlers or 50. You get paid 30 minutes after the last saved rolls.

Joe Louis' Brown Bombers from Chicago defeated the Fun Bowl All-Stars here Sunday, 2,795-1,002 to 2,612-916.

Maurice "Ace" Kilgore, with 620-223, was high for the Bombers while William Gooch led the All-Stars with 595-241.

Cassie Davidson, nurse at Central Hospital who bowls with the girls Wednesday evenings, rolled 193—the high score for the ladies. These are the girls who have the best-looking outfits of the year.

SPLIT-MAKERS Monday were Marie Patterson, 4-5; Earl Brown, 3-10 and 4-5; Zearl Mitchell, 3-10; Lawrence Patterson, 4-9; Bill Milton, 6-7; Amos Baker, 3-10; Bob Ramsey, 6-7-10; Joe Mimmer, 5-7; Harry Webster, 3-10; Curtis Brooks, 5-10; Mary Jewell, 4-7-10; Oscar Pryor, 5-7 and 3-10, and Frances Tanks, 6-7 and 5-10.

Friday night Dave Hughes made the 4-10 and 6-7 both in the same game. Nice sharp shooting!

Harold Newbolt, an older bowler, came down Sunday to watch the Joe Louis team roll. I had not seen Harold for 16 years. He bowled with the Cotton Club team when it was Bob McComb, Red Kelly, Isaac Thurman and Yours Truly. All of us were present Sunday but Thurman, who was out rolling in a tournament.

A misprint last week said

Vivian McGuire "rolled 50!" What she rolled was 545, and I said she would bowl more 500's.

Well, Vivian rolled 512 this week for the 2nd straight week.

Meanwhile Vernon Lee, last year's 135-pound champion, has been named coach at S. H. H. Jack Durham, athletic director, said the club will have at least 15 entrants.

Christamore House, last year's runner-up, hadn't entered their boxers at this writing but more than 80 contestants were in, headed by 23 for Hill Community Center. Other organizations entering were Northwest, Northeast, Lockfield and Douglas.

Last year, 117 fighters vied for the 8 open and 8 novice titles. Entry deadline is Wednesday.

RICHMOND — Six boxers represented the Townsend Community Center in the opening round of the Golden Gloves held at Muncie on Tuesday.

Headed by Coach Lawrence Spicer, the delegation included Darnell Twine, Roland Bonner, Michael Starr, Sammy Wright, Earl Conners and Kenny White.

Muncie, incidentally, will also be taller by Sectional time as tan rebounder Jim Davis takes the cast off his left wrist. He is 6-5. Taking his place Saturday was 5-9 Jim Nettles, also a tan performer, who does right well as catcher on that "counter-punch" play. — C.S.P.

After watching Muncie Central's lightning-fast, college-style club beat Tech 65-58 for its 15th straight last week, this writer has decided there was only one thing wrong with our pre-season prediction that Attucks would win all its games and then win the state. We just picked the wrong team.

SALUTE TO A GENTLEMAN
We would be amiss in our journalistic duties, if we were to pass up this golden opportunity to elaborate on the fine article that appeared in The News of Jan. 20, headed: "Brokenburr is Senate Man of Distinction." Says the story and we heartily agree: "His courtesy, courtliness and charm have captivated Democrats and Republicans alike, not to mention those of the third house—the lobbyists."
"His reputation and record are untarnished and he is known for his absolute integrity."
"He's an expert on legislation dealing with courts and legal procedure."
The elder statesman in the senate is Robert Lee Brokenburr, Indianapolis Republican.
"He looks the part, knows the part, and most important, acts the part."
"Brokenburr, born Nov. 16, 1886 in Phoebus, Va., arrived in Indianapolis in the fall of 1909, fresh out of law school. He obtained his law degree at Howard University, Washington, after completing pre-law studies at Hampton Institute, Hampton, Va."
"Brokenburr was admitted to the bar in Indianapolis in 1910, and set out to carve his niche in law and politics."

We take our hat off to the honorable senator and salute him as a fine Christian gentleman who has achieved a mark of distinction in this community and the nation. A 33rd degree Mason, churchman, civic leader and gentleman, he is indeed a credit to the Negro race. The writer being from Richmond, not too far from Phoebus, is proud to say that he, too, is a Virginian. (Selah!)

WHAT WOULD WE GIVE for this talent... The Shriners all-star benefit show out in Los Angeles contained such names as Leo Durocher, Nat Cole, Bob Hope, Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Milton Berle, Billy Daniels, Harry James, Jerry Lewis, etc. WOW! Incidentally, Kenny Washington is potentate of the L.A. chapter, which is the second largest in the country, and will entertain the convention in August. The White Memorial Hospital in that city received $6,000 from the 1958 show. They also contributed heavily to the NAACP, Urban League, TB and Cancer Foundations, Children's Hospital and the Theater Group Charities on the local level.

WE AREN'T DOIN' SO BAD HERE—The great city of Chicago with more than 700,000 Negroes, can boast of only one captain and not a single lieutenant in the entire department. No Negroes on homicide, burglary, vice or sex squads. Only six sergeants: Robert Harkness, Ben Morgan, Harold Miles, Alvin Fauntleroy, William McCall and John McDaniel.

BELAFONTE STAR OF "TELEPHONE HOUR" SHOW

HOLLYWOOD (ANP) — Harry Belafonte's performance on the first "Bell Telephone Hour" last week was a "show within a show." The singer appeared in the final segment of the program, subtitled "Adventures in Music." Other guest stars were Maurice Evans, Renata Tebaldi, the New York City Ballet and duo-pianists Gold and Pisale.

Belafonte sang a group of folk songs from various parts of the world. He was accompanied by the Belafonte Singers.

Nat "King" Cole Voted Sharpest Entertainer in '58

LOS ANGELES (ANP)—Nat "King" Cole received two distinct honors last week. On Jan. 6 he was applauded roundly and kept busy meeting guests and entertaining at three different inaugural balls for California's new governor, Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, in Sacramento.

The following day he journeyed to Los Angeles to receive the Men's Apparel Club of California annual award as "the best dressed performer in the fields of recording and night clubs" at a luncheon in the Biltmore Hotel Bowl. Screen star Joan Collins made the presentation.

LIONEL HAMPTON, his "vibes," drums and swing band will be the feature attraction at the Cosmo Knights dance Monday nite, Feb. 2, at the Indiana Roof ball room. Admission is $2.50. See any member of the Cosmo Knights Social club for tickets, which are NOW going fast.

Former Gospel Singer Switches To "Pops"

NEWARK, N.J. (ANP)—Just like his new Gibraltar record hit "No Regrets" says, singer Jimmy Barnes, former member of the Jubilaires Gospel quartet, doesn't regret making the switch to pop songs. The chances to make big money are greater, he says.

The ex-G.I. born in New Jersey, has garnered favorable comments from many of the nation's top disc jockeys who are giving his first pop tune a spin.

Not one to recommend a new disc unless it bears the mark of success, Cash Box, the respected bible of the music industry, says of this initial release: "Barnes puts his heart into his delivery of this potent rock-a-ballad."

Organized three months ago, Gibraltar is a Negro-owned and operated company.

A capacity crowd of music lovers will converge on the Indiana Roof Monday nite, Feb. 2, for the enjoyable jam session and dance presenting "The Amazing" Lionel Hampton, "King of the Vibraharp" and "Master of the Drums," and his orchestra. The affair, which promises the top in music and fun, is new and different and is being sponsored by the popular Cosmo Knights Social Club.

Lionel, who is well known locally as a result of his records, broadcasts and appearances with Benny Goodman's orchestra, includes among his compositions such songs as his famous "Jack the Bellboy," "Bompin'," "Give Me Some Skin," "Number 51," "Anything," "Standing Room Only," "Hollywood Shuffle," "Mushmouth," "Boogie Woogie Jones," plus his old standard "Flying Home."

Lionel is enthusiastic about his band, which just played to a capacity crowd at the 5-4 Ballroom in Los Angeles. He is also proud of his instruments. He has the only gold-plated vibraharp in the world. It cost $3,500 and was given to him by the manufacturer. He also has a tunable tom-tom, only one of its kind in use.

Randolph Scott, Hollywood's outstanding exponent of outdoor action drama, storms the screen of the Walker theater Sunday in Columbia Pictures' "Buchanan Rides Alone," in Columbia Color. Craig Stevens, Jennifer Holden and Barry Kelley are featured.

Scott is seen in "Buchanan Rides Alone" as a Texas adventurer who has just returned from fighting for pay in a Mexican revolution. With his saddlebag full of money, Scott rides into the place called "Hell-town-on-the-Border," famous for its double-dealings and double-hangings.

Scott takes the side of an underdog, a young Mexican who, to avenge his sister, has killed one of the brothers of the powerful family that runs the border town. Naturally, Scott is invited to a hanging party with himself and the boy the unwilling guests of honor.

The cowboy star is reported to be at the top of his actionful form in "Buchanan Rides Alone." Stevens, in his first Western, is a villain worthy of the name; Miss Holden plays a lady of dubious reputation who incites the lynch mob, and Kelley, the border town's crooked sheriff.

On the same bill are "Carmen Jones" and "Curse of the Demon."

WILLIAM LESLIE covers Randolph Scott as Craig Stevens questions him in Columbia Pictures' Western adventure, "Buchanan Rides Alone," which starts Sunday at the Walker theater.

Teen Talk

By THE SNOOPER

Hello, my pets, and you too, bright eyes! This is your old friend with the long nose — better known as The Snooper — back with more news about what's being done and who's been caught doing it.

My eagle eyes don't miss a thing, so if your name doesn't appear here, you just ain't doing nothing! And now for the gossip:

Ronald Holiman and Doris Ellis are starting out to be '59's toughest twosome. Work on, my children.

Finnis Anderson, why don't you come off your "Ivory Tower" and give Rebecca Lackey a chance? I hear that Joe Cannon is singing "Love is All We Need" to a sweet little chick by the name of Ann.

Say, Mary McGee, is it true that you're waiting for William Howard or is it true that you're getting squared away with someone else? Dig, Ruby Turner, who is the lucky boy in your life this month?

Say, Marian Watkins, I was told that you are singing "Lonely Teardrops" to a boy with initials M. C. How true is this, little girl?

Hey, Larry Smith, who is this cute little chick on the Eastside you seem to be spending lots of time with? I heard that her name is Rachel Butler and that you will do anything to win her love.

Say, Cynthia Tuggle, is it true you go for Don Swift in a very big way? Say, Cynthia Tuggle and Larry Robinson, do I hear bells ringing in the future for the two of you?

A flame has started to burn in Ronald Utley's heart for Sarah Battles. Are you going to increase the flame, Sarah, or going to let Lorraine Ellison take over?

Beverly Kern is trying to reach Larry Gowdy's heart. The problem now is, will she take it? The answer is up to Larry.

Flash — Aspark has begun to show in Larry Wellington's heart for Allene Tuggle. Lyda Floyd and Freddy Johnson are walking around looking like a pair of lovebirds. Just keep singing that sweet tune, children, and everything will remain real cool.

I hear that Rachel Butler is head over heels in love with a Northside boy, he question is, will he know he's the one before it's too late?

COP ON THIS, CHILDREN. Lora Wilson and Maurice Willingham have finally called it quits for good. Well, here is wishing you better luck next time, kids.

I hear that Brenda "Shortie" Gibson and Gypsy Martin are singing "We Have Love" — but just for each other. Wise up, Wade Stewart, because I hear Wendell Buford still holds the key to Ellen Oates' heart.

Who is the handsome boy that Lora Wilson has her eyes on? Come now, Lora, let's tell it all.

I hear Sharon Walker and Joe "Vicki" Thurman have just fallen from the atmosphere for lovers only and are coming back to earth. What's the reason, young ones?

Betty White is having a hard time in deciding to tell which two of her three friends to get in the wind. Would someone please tell me the name of the girl who used "Black Magic" to capture Earl Petigrew's heart?

I hear that John Walker and Joyce Blake more are still living for just one another. Keep up the good work, kids.

MELVIN BLEDSOE. I hear that you have lost your heart to a sweet little girl on the Eastside. Now ain't love just grand? Huh, boy. Phyllis Wimberly and Donald Tutt are making a real gone two-eme, now that she has gotten Stanley Holloway off her mind.

Jesse Beck is playing "Romeo" to none other than sweet little Donna Holland. Julia Garrison and Andrew Danville are saying that all it takes is "Love and Understanding" to be a true couple.

Could it be that Lorraine Mason and Donald Thurman have fallen in love? Yep, that's what I thought.

Shirley Mason has started to cooling it with Owen Young Jr. Johnny Davis, there is a certain chick who is dying to meet you. Wake up, my man, and try to find out who she is. It might be the beginning of a new romance.

It's now in the wind that Larry Roberts and JoAnn Williams are making it just fine and that they want all to know it so there will not be any interference.

Say, Larry Hall, there is a way? Say, Cynthia Tuggle and Larry Robinson, do I hear bells ringing to hear you say those three magic words. Well, what are you going to do about it, Larry?

I hear that the only person not hip to the David Moss and Audrey Williamson romance is Carolyn McElwaine. Better wake up, Carolyn, wool is being pulled over your eyes.

Say, Brenda Brightforth, who has his love buried in your heart nowadays? Jeradine Robinson, have you found a new love to take the place of James Tichenor yet?

Better hurry up, young lady, time is a-wasting. Say there, Betty Murphy, word is going around that you have a slight crush on Eddie Dalton and Earl Stubbs.

Hey, Gloria Toombs, are you still ringing "My Life" to James Watkins? Keep it up, because I think you make a very cute couple.

SAY, JOE MARTIN, who is your lover doll these cold winter days? You know that cold weather is the wrong time to be all alone and by yourself.

Dig, Gladys Turner, are you and Charles Watkins still "Wheelin' and Rockin'?" Curtis Barnes, why don't you wise up to the fact that you are losing out with Norma Hill and give Willie White a chance?

Sandra Brown, I was told by your guardian angel that your prayers were answered when Nathaniel Lindby asked for another chance. Was it the truth, Sandra?

What's this I hear 'bout Clara Means telling Linda Brown to keep James Lipscomb from her doorway?

Well, youngsters, the story you have read is true. No names have been changed to protect the guilty. Just don't lose your cools.

I'll make it on out after telling you that the Calypso club will be throwing a casual record dance Saturday night, Jan. 31, at Fidelity Lodge Hall, 40th and Capitol. Dig you there? Till later.

Washington, after a conference with his general, asked that Negroes not be allowed to fight for a freedom they would not be allowed to enjoy.

Salesgirl Cashier Hired at Barney's

A temporary Christmas job may have turned out to be a career for Miss Blanchetta Dunlop, 1801 Columbia, a 1958 graduate of Tech high school.

It all started when Miss Lora Palmer of Barney's Jewelry Co. announced that she needed some extra help with window trimming and gift wrapping and such during the Christmas season.

Soon, she was seen regularly waiting on customers or at the cash register. And when Miss Palmer, who has been with the firm since 1942, convinced her that she could learn more about bookkeeping through actual experience than by continuing her schooling, "Snoopy" dropped her course and started working full time.

"I'M IMPRESSED with her aggressiveness," Miss Palmer said. "Even when she's finished her assigned task, she manages to find something constructive to do. She has a lot of initiative and a pleasing personality which should take her far in this field."

"It's a real pleasure to work with her."

Cicero Hunter

Funeral services for Cicero Hunter, 2403 Manlove, were held Jan. 27 in the King and King Funeral Home, with burial in New Crown. He died Jan. 25. Mr. Hunter was born at Princeton, Ky., and had lived here 40 years.

BLANCHETTA DUNLOP

ing the Christmas holidays. William Dunlop, who had worked at the store in the Sheraton-Lincoln Hotel for several years, said he has a daughter he thought might like that kind of work.

ALREADY A STUDENT at Indiana Central Business College, Miss Dunlop agreed to take the job on a temporary basis.

One day when there were several customers in the store, Miss Palmer suggested that her new helper try her hand at waiting on customers. Blanchetta's pre-Christmas sales course at Attucks stood her in good stead, and Miss Palmer was impressed with the way she "handled" people.

Sandra Miller To Represent Girl Scouts

Miss Sandra Miller, 331 North-ern, is one of the Senior Girl Scouts selected by the Hoosier Capital Girl Scout Council to attend the Senior Roundup next July in Colorado.

The girls selected were chosen from the many applicants on the basis of skill in camping, maturity, personality, interest and experience.

Sandra is now a member of Troop No. 54 and a student at Shorridge high school. Mrs. Louis Hill is leader of her Girl Scout troop.

At the Senior Roundup, Scouts from all 49 states and many foreign countries will camp together for two weeks and share information about their home country, state and community.

Scouts in the Hoosier Capital Council have been taking training since Oct. in hand arts, cooking, dramatics and singing. Now that the girls have been selected to attend the Roundup, more concentrated training will begin a study of the history and background of Indiana as well as specific camping skills.

CHURCH EVENTS ... of the City

By WILLA THOMAS

I know by now that all you who joined in the Youth Week observance were happy to get the rest and to see the young people carry on. Young people in a lot of churches felt left out of things.

Some 900 youth are expected to join in the mass meeting which will close the week-long observance at Roberts Park Methodist Church Sunday at 3. Come and bring your friends and don't forget to bring your first aid kits which will be sent to our missionaries in many countries.

The young people of First Baptist Church will have services Sunday at 11. Elder F. F. Young, pastor, will speak at the morning service, and Rev. William Naylor will speak at 8. The youth choir will sing.

The young people of the church are invited to attend a prayer service Wednesday night at 8. On Thursday, Rev. Murphy Smith, pastor of Golden Rule Baptist Church, will speak, also at 8. His choir will sing.

A fellowship meeting Friday will close the service.

THE JUNIOR 3 C's of New Bethel Baptist Church recently had installation services with Rev. F. B. Davis, pastor, as speaker. Officers are Robert Edwards, president; Miss Jacquelyn Brown, vice president; Miss Shirley Radcliffe, secretary; Robert Peters Jr., treasurer; Edward Taylor, assistant secretary; Michael Brown, devotional leader; Miss Charlene Brown, missionary leader, and Mrs. Bernice Swiney, counselor.

An estimated 23,000,000 Baptists in more than 100 countries will join in the observance of Baptist World Alliance Sunday.

They will meet as one before the Throne of Grace in prayer and consecration, mindful of their one Lord, one faith and one baptism. I hope that all Baptists in this state will join in the observance.

And, if you can, send a donation to the Baptist World Alliance headquarters in Washington to help with God's world mission program.

The annual workshop of the United Church Women of Indianapolis will be held Friday, Jan. 30, at Prentice United Presbyterian Church, 4900 E. 38th, at 9:45. Any Central bus marked 47th and Arlington in front of Wasson's will take you there.

The workshop will be a great help to all of you and I hope you can attend.

Mrs. Evelyn Whipple is president.

Youth services at Trinity CME Church will end Sunday at 7:30 with a candlelight communion service sponsored by Mrs. Lucille Edwards, Sunday school superintendent. The youth choir will sing.

St. John Baptist Church will end its Youth Week observance with a banquet Friday evening at 7.

Mrs. Mary Rice has been elected chairman of the Young Matrons of St. John Baptist Church. Other officers are Mesdames Mary Oliver, first vice-chairman; Ruth Johnson, second vice-chairman; Elizabeth Johnson, secretary; Jerry Davis, assistant secretary, and Cornelia House, treasurer.

Mrs. A. J. Brown is sponsor of the group, which is doing a wonderful job for the cause of foreign missions.

Speaking for the 11 o'clock service at Union Baptist Church next Sunday will be Rev. David Batson from the Philippines.

A student at Butler, he is a graduate of Northern Christian College in the Philippines and served as a teacher in the mission schools among the mountain tribes. For two years he was principal of the school.

He will also be guest speaker Saturday at 8:30 for the youth banquet at Bethany Baptist Church.

The National Baptist Sunday School Congress will meet in Denver in June. Now is the time to start making plans to attend.

Among the ministers attending the national board meeting last week in Hot Springs, Ark., was Rev. E. James Odom, pastor of Twenty-Fifth Street Baptist Church.

THE NEW MINISTER of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Capitol is Rev. Van Patten from the Virgin Islands. He has been in the city for some time now and seems to like it here.

He is a graduate of Emmanuel Missionary College in Michigan.

Congratulations to the usher board of Union Baptist Church which celebrated its 24th anniversary last Sunday, with Rev. Samuel Day, pastor of Bethlehem Baptist Church, as guest speaker. His choir sang.

Rev. L. A. Manuel, pastor of South Calvary Baptist Church, remains ill in his home 112 W. 33rd. Say a prayer for him and send him a card. We here wish him a speedy recovery.

The youngest elder in Witherspoon United Presbyterian Church was speaker for the Youth Sunday program. Rev. Boyd delivered a fine message, I'm told.

If you plan to conduct a vacation Bible school this year, please reserve Feb. 23 so that you can attend the vacation church school planning conference at Fairview Presbyterian Church, 4609 N. Capital.

Registration fee, payable in advance, is $1 and should be sent to the Church Federation office. The conference is planned by the Children's Workers Council.

A mass meeting sponsored by the junior and intermediate BYPU of the Central District Baptist Association will be held at South Calvary Baptist Church Sunday at 3.

Rev. Buford Eckles, associate minister at Union Baptist Church, was guest speaker Sunday at the evening worship sponsored by the youth of New Bethel Baptist Church.

A marriage and family forum series will begin Sunday at Witherspoon United Presbyterian Church and will continue for seven Sundays. The program, sponsored by the Community Youth League of the church, will have as its first speaker Mrs. U. J. Orrid. Topic for discussion Sunday will be "Choosing a Mate." The meeting, which is open to youth 18-35, will start each Sunday at 7:30. An Officer is president of the sponsoring group.

The singing groups of St. Mark Baptist Church presented an evening in song last Sunday evening.

Already 300 prayer groups have been organized to pray for the success of the Billy Graham crusade here and in Europe.

I attended a prayer service Saturday at the Billy Graham headquarters, 48 Monument Circle, along with Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Brown and Rev. A. F. Murray.

The doctor says Rev. Graham, now resting in Honolulu, will be fine in about a month.

Mesdames Thelma Donahue and Dorothy Wilson and I became volunteers for the crusade last week. It's really wonderful to see how they work to make plans for such a great meeting. We hope you will pledge your services for a day or so.

MRS. WILLIAM HOWARD, First Baptist Church, North Indianapolis, has been appointed chairman for the Northside World Day of Prayer, Feb. 13 at Simpson Methodist Church. Please reserve this date so you can attend and join in the fellowship of prayer.

In the mail this week is a letter from Rev. Allen Smith, now attending the Yale University Divinity School.

Former president of the Indiana Baptist Youth Convention, his address is 403 Prospect, New Haven 2, Conn.

Shut-ins will find comfort and strength in "Television Church" on WISH-TV Sunday mornings at 9:30. The program is sponsored by the Indianapolis Church Federation.

Mrs. Beatrice Robinson of New Bethel Baptist Church remains ill in her home, 1942 Tallman. She is well known here and throughout the state. Do pray for her and send a get-well card.

I would like to leave with you this thought taken from the Hawaii Baptist publication:

"If you are impatient, sit down and talk with Job. If you are just a little strongheaded, go and see Moses. If you are getting weakened, take a good look at Elijah. If there is no song in your heart, listen to David. If you are a policy man, read Daniel. If you are getting sordid, spend a while with Isaiah."

"If your faith is below par, read Paul. If you are getting lazy, watch James. If you are losing sight of the future, climb the stairs of Revelations and get a glimpse of the Promised Land."

NEW YORK — The strategy crats there were hints, if not outright promises, of choice committee assignments. How Johnson meets these commitments will be apparent only when the Senate is formally organized, after filibuster debate is over.

"But in at least one case the lure of a choice assignment did not work. Moss (D., Utah) received word he would probably go on either the Senate Interior or Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee."

"It was so much taken for granted that Miss would go along and that he could get either post that another Western senator expressed delight that Moss would be a committee colleague."

"But Moss decided to line up with the liberals on the Anderson motion. Where he now ends upon committee assignments is a matter of speculation."

"Sen. Mansfield (D., Mont.) himself came to a meeting of the liberal Democrats last Tuesday to try to persuade them to go along with Johnson's 'compromise.'"

The meeting began in the office of Sen. Humphrey (D., Minn.) and then moved down the hall when it got too big for the Minnesota office.

"Mansfield argued that revising the filibuster rules would just make 'another House of Representatives' out of the Senate. He was listened to attentively, but he ran into stiff opposition, especially from Douglas and Sen. Morse (D., Ore.)."

"Morse told Mansfield that much as he liked him, he wanted the record of the meeting to show that in January 1959 I warned you that the Democratic Party is heading for a terrific defeat in 1960 if you let the Southerners control the majority."

"Morse reminded Mansfield that the Johnson resolution was no compromise at all, because two-thirds of those 'present and voting' was likely to be the same as closing debate by two-thirds of the full Senate. Some other senators chimed in to recall how often senators had been brought in on wheelchairs and taken from hospital beds just to get a full vote."

"Morse said further to Mansfield: 'WHAT YOU ARE LETTING the Southerners do is amend the Constitution of the United States. The Constitution clearly lists cases where a two-thirds vote is required. All others require a majority vote. But now you are amending the Constitution by requiring a two-thirds vote to cut off debate.'

"Sen. Anderson (D., N. M.) told Mansfield that Johnson was just 'making a hero' out of Vice-President Nixon, who will campaign against Southern rule of Senate

"What apparently swung Dirksen were assurances that the old Dixie right wing GOP coalition would remain intact. To conservative Republicans this meant that Johnson would oppose or whittle down a host of social welfare bills expected to come up this session."

"They range from unemployment compensation legislation to a federal school building program, housing and urban renewal plans."

"As late as 24 hours before the vote, Dirksen had sent an emissary to the office of his Illinois colleague, Sen. Douglas, with verbal assurances that he would back the Anderson motion. As the new Republican leader, Dirksen could probably have swung 15 votes, enough to beat Johnson."

"The same assurances had been given by Dirksen at least twice before. Just to make sure they were not misunderstood, Douglas, once asked that they be spelled out clearly and they were."

"NOW DIRKSEN MAINTAINS his pledge was 'misconstrued.'"

Toledo Prisoner May Come Out Worth $40,000

TOLEDO, O. (ANP) — A Toledo man now serving a life term in the Ohio penitentiary stands to come out of prison a rich man.

Eugene B. Bryant, 35, sentenced here for the rape of an 8-year-old girl, inherited some oil-producing property in Mississippi and may have as much as $40,000 in the penitentiary bank when he becomes eligible for parole.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said royalties from the oil land recently leased for drilling near McComb have started to yield as much as $400 a month for the prisoner.

Bryant must serve at least 10 years before he can petition for parole. That will not come before 1967.

ALBANY, N. Y. (ANP) — Governor Nelson Rockefeller has appointed a Negro to a temporary judgeship in general sessions court.

Samuel R. Pierce, a 36-year-old attorney, was recently named to fill a vacancy left by Judge George M. Carney, who became a Supreme Court justice New Year's Day. Pierce's appointment runs until Dec. 31.

Pierce, who will receive $34,500 as a judge, was a former star football player at Cornell University.

Arrested after Shooting Self

A 24-year-old man who accidentally shot himself Saturday evening was arrested minutes after the mishap on charges of carrying a concealed weapon.

William Johnson, 2825 Winthrop, said he was carrying a .25-caliber Remington-Union automatic in his coat pocket and when he reached for his car keys the gun discharged.

The bullet penetrated Johnson's left leg.

A laboratory check disproved the theory that the gun was the same one used in the recent street slaying of Bartender Edwin Coyle.

What LINCOLN really thought
NEGROES

DURING THE PAST 100 YEARS, Abraham Lincoln has been quoted and misquoted by politicians to support their position on white-Negro relations. Taken out of context, Lincoln's own words have been used...and are being used...by segregationists and liberals. Now, what did Lincoln really think about the Negro? Was he truly devoted to the welfare of the Negro in the United States? Or was he just another politician whose actions toward the Negro were compelled by the military, political and social pressures of his time? Where did he get the idea that, "all men are created equal"? Read the factual, historical account, "What Lincoln really thought about Negroes," by Ralph G. Newman, in the wonderful, new, February issue of EBONY magazine, now on your newsstand.

H. PRENTICE BROWNING, president of the American Flecher National Bank and Trust Company, announced this week the election of four Indianapolis business men to the board of directors of the bank. The new directors are Frank Hoke, president of Holcomb and Hoke Manufacturing Company, Inc.; G. Barron Mallory, administrative vice-president of F. R. Mallory and Company, Inc.; Bernard W. Schotters, executive vice-president of the Indianapolis Power and Light Company; and Alfred J. Stokely, executive vice-president of Stokely-Van Camp, Inc.

Mr. Mallory came to the city late last year on assuming his present position with the Mallory Company. Messrs. Hoke, Schotters and Stokely have long been active in business and civic affairs of the community.

The board of the bank reported to shareholders net operating earnings for the year of 1958 of more than $1,847,000 or $3.69 per share, compared with $3.94 per share for the previous year. Dividends amounting to $1.60 per share were paid during 1958, and net profits retained were $1,083,778 in 1958, compared with $956,177 in 1957.

New highs in capital funds and deposits were reported at year-end. Capital, surplus and undivided profits totaled more than $23,000,000 on Dec. 31, 1958. Year-end deposits were more than $312,621,000. Major expansion of the bank's facilities and service during 1958 included raising the aggregate of capital and surplus of the bank to $20,000,000 and accordingly increasing its capacity to lend up to $2,000,000 to any one customer.

E. B. MARTINDALE is president of the Van Camp Hardware and Iron Company, old-established and widely-known local business organization which has contributed through the years in various manners to the making of a greater Indianapolis.

This week the firm held its first "Spring and Summer Merchandise Show," given during the annual convention of the Indiana Retail Hardware Assn. More than three-score manufacturers were represented here during the convention, and the Van Camp show attracted several hundred hardware and lumber dealers from Michigan,

E. B. NEWHILL, general manager of the Allison Division (GMC), announced lately that the organization will further develop and produce a new compact, light-weight automotive-type gas turbine.

Mr. Newhill noted that the 225-horsepower engine developed by G. M. Laboratories for the Firebird "show car" will be made available to military and commercial users of heavy-duty equipment. One-third the size of comparable diesel engines, the new power plant operates on kerosene, gasoline, diesel or jet aircraft fuels and can be adapted for propane gas. According to Mr. Newhill, the new engine, dubbed the "Whirlwind," may soon be competitive with the best diesels and is believed competitive with the best gasoline engines. Prototype models have been ordered by several major equipment builders for delivery this year.
